Indochina Dunkerque Is Seen Possible; French Withdrawing to Last Lifeline

By LARRY ALLEN

Singapore, July 1 (AP)—Much of the Red river delta, key prize in the bitter Indochina war, was falling into the hands of the Communist-led Vietminh tonight without a fight.

French Union forces were evacuating swiftly from their hard-to-hold centers in the delta area. The end to the savage eight-year-old struggle appeared to be not far off.

The French Union forces were generally withdrawing to their last lone lifeline—the railway and highway linking the war capital of Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong, 64 miles to the east.

An Indochina Dunkerque may come soon at the end of this road—"the most dangerous road in the world." Haiphong is France's last beachhead in northern Viet Nam. It is from there that they will have to make the attempt to evacuate tens of thousands of troops, whether as a result of a cease-fire or after fighting their way through from Hanoi.

Are Leaving Centers

The French command today announced they were pulling out of such important and heavily populated centers as Phat Diem, Thai Binh, Nam Dinh and Ninh Binh, all within 55 to 75 miles south and southeast of Hanoi.

That automatically meant an area embracing thousands of villages peopled by around four million Vietnamese were dropping into the hands of troops of Vietminh Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

It also meant that while these millions were being abandoned to communism, the French soon would be shakily controlling only the lifeline between Hanoi and Haiphong and a strip of territory in northeastern Indochina including the town of Moncay on the Chinese border.

That too, however, may soon be given up as the French concentrate all their defense power in the Do-or-Die sector between Hanoi and Haiphong.

To Hit Lifeline

Barring a cease-fire, the Vietminh are expected quickly to hit the lifeline with a massive human sea attack that could crush the French Union forces.

Whether the delta then is swept by monsoon rains will make little difference.

The Vietminh usually have staged their heaviest attacks during rainstorms because they immobilize French armor and warplanes.

There is also danger of a possible civil uprising as the Vietminh sweep into thousands of the approximately 5,500 villages where seven million Vietnamese live.

Throughout the war the sym-

Knowland Firm On Chinese Reds

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today that if the Chinese Communists are admitted to the United Nations he will resign as majority leader of the Senate and "devote my full efforts . . . to terminate United States membership in that organization . . ."

Knowland told the Senate that there is likely to be "a Communist victory of no mean proportions" in Indochina and as a result of that he expects a concerted effort later this year to bring Red China into the UN through action by the General Assembly.

17,000 Go On Strike

Installation, Maintenance Workers Called to Leave Jobs

New York, July 1 (AP)—Seventeen thousand CIO workers who install and maintain telephone equipment were called on strike across the nation today but a delay in picketing eased any immediate threat of crippled phone communications.

In previous strikes, failure of long distance telephone operators to cross picket lines has caused difficulties.

However, dial phones and automatic equipment could continue to operate for some time before needing attention or repairs.

The CIO Communications Workers Union announced shortly after 6 a. m. that "the strike is on."

However, in some areas — notably the huge metropolitan area of New York and at Baltimore—the walkout was delayed until 11 a. m. No explanation was given.

To Dely Picketing

In New York it was announced that the present plan of the equipment installers is to delay picketing telephone buildings around the nation until next Tuesday morning. But an official said this plan was "subject to change."

The strike was called after a breakdown in negotiations between the CWA's District 10 and the Western Electric Co., which is the manufacturing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph System.

The union is seeking a new work contract with various benefits, and the breakup in contract talks dashed hopes of a last-minute settlement hinging on an increased wage offer from Western Electric.

The official start of the strike was announced by Joseph Dunne, director of CWA District 10.

Will Affect 44 States

The walkout will affect telephone operations in 44 states and the District of Columbia. States not involved, a union spokesman said, are Maine, Vermont, New

Settlement Attempts Are in Vain

War-Torn Guatemala's Cease Fire Order Extended to Friday Morning Time

San Salvador, El Salvador, July 1 (AP)—Guatemala's rival anti-Communist chieftains haggled until nearly dawn today in a vain effort to agree on a peace settlement which would give their war-split land its fourth government in a week.

The peace talks between rebel Col. Carlos Castillo Armas and Col. Elfego Monzon, head of Guatemala's new governing junta, broke up at 3:30 a. m. Castillo Armas announced he was returning to his rebel headquarters at Chiquimula.

In a statement issued to newsmen, both leaders said they were extending until 9 a. m. tomorrow the cease-fire in effect between the rebels and the Guatemalan army.

El Salvador's President Oscar Osorio, acting as mediator, voiced optimism that a settlement could be reached.

Real Peace Remote

But real peace seemed remote as Monzon's junta rushed troops to Communist strong points in Guatemala where vengeful Red leaders were reported trying to foment peasant uprisings. Red-indoctrinated farm workers were said to be inciting revolt in Escuintla, Pinula and Conceucion, hotbeds of communism about 30 miles from Guatemala City.

The joint statement said the cease-fire had been extended in order to give both parties time to consider and study various proposals to reach an accord"

Neither side would disclose what proposals were involved nor what particular point caused disagreement.

Osorio said the United States was taking no part in the talks since it had not asked to mediate. However, U. S. Ambassador Michael McDermott met the two Guatemalan leaders when they arrived in their separate planes yesterday.

During last night's conference the papal nuncio to Guatemala, Msgr. Gennaro Verolino stood by outside the closed chamber. The Pope's representative said he had been asked by Monzon to "do what I can and help if asked."

Hope in Talks

U. S. and Salvadorean officials expressed hope the talks would lead to an anti-Red coalition of Castillo Armas and Monzon which would wipe out the Communists who became entrenched in the Caribbean land during the regime of ousted President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Red Chieftain Carlos Manuel Pellecer was reported heading the peasant uprisings. The Reds were reported telling the peasants that the new regime would take away the lands which Arbenz had distributed among them.

Guatemala's police chief, Col. Ruben Gonzales Segui, said Pellecer could probably foment strife for a long time by inciting guerrilla warfare in Guatemala's hilly forests. Gonzales said the rebel air force might be put back into action against the guerrillas.

Seeks Safety in Embassy

Pellecer took refuge in the Argentine Embassy after Arbenz's downfall. Later he was ousted along with former secret police chief Jaime Rosenberg and other former leaders because embassy officials feared their presence would provoke violence from anti-Communist crowds outside.

Pellecer then fled to Escuintla and the reports of uprisings began coming in.

From Antigua, however, came word that anti-Communists had besieged the Reds there and were trying to hang their leaders.

A top Guatemalan official said he expected the roundup of Rosenberg and other former police officials within hours.

Troopers Hold 2 Brothers, Woman

Bail Is Set at $25,000 Each for R. A. Fink, Marjorie Hotaling

Oneonta, July 1 (AP)—State police today were holding two brothers and the fiance of one in their investigation of the murders of a retired bank cashier and his wife.

The bodies of Horace Stanton, 75, and his wife, Laura, 57, were found Tuesday night in the driveway of their summer cottage at Goodyear Lake, about seven miles northeast of here.

Stanton had been shot twice in the back and once in the hand with what a coroner described as a small-caliber weapon. Bullets had pierced Mrs. Stanton's back, chest and head.

Police yesterday took into custody Raymond A. Fink, 24, and Marjorie Hotaling, 21, both of Schenevus. They were booked as material witnesses. Judge Frederick Loomis set bail at $25,000 each.

A few hours later troopers announced they had picked up Fink's brother, Gordon, 35, who they said was Miss Hotaling's fiance. Sheriff W. Mills Miller said Gordon Fink was on parole from Attica State Prison, where he had been serving a 10-20 year term for burglary.

Fink was booked as a parole violator.

Girls Give Testimony

District Attorney Richard Bookhout said Raymond Fink and Miss Hotaling had been arrested after state police heard testimony from two teen-aged girls. Bookhout refused to elaborate.

Police said Gordon Fink had been negotiating to purchase a piece of lake-side property that the Stantons owned.

State Police Capt. Carl A. Lawson said his investigation thus far

Hundreds Others May Be Dead in Mexican Village

Eagle Pass, Tex., July 1 (AP)—At least 55 persons are dead in the Rio Grande's most devastating flood in history, but the death toll might rise to disaster proportions today.

Across the river from here, at miserable Piedras Negras, Mexico, it was feared hundreds may have died in the collapsed adobe (mud and straw) huts of the poor.

Of the counted dead, 38 were at Piedras Negras. Nearly 100 miles north of the river, at Ozona, Tex., one of the flash floods which fed Rio Grande's swollen stream Monday killed at least 16 others. Another died in a Pecos river flood.

Upstream at Del Rio, Tex., and Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, and downstream at Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, there were few casualties and no deaths. Adequate warnings and other safeguards plus organization paid off, officials said.

Many Go to Hospitals

Large numbers of sick and injured were making their way toward makeshift hospitals last night in Piedras Negras. Sixty-five injured were in a temporary medical shelter, and more moved in every minute.

At least 15,000 were homeless and some 7,000 refugees huddled in the hills of Coahuila with no shelter, no food and no water. About 80 per cent of the homes in the city of 35,000 was flooded. Half of them were destroyed as the adobe brick crumbled.

The true death count conceivably may never be known.

"From what I hear, there may be anywhere from 200 to 500 dead," said H. G. Walker, U. S. Public Health Service official here to help in rescue and rehabilitation.

Will Never Know

"Non one will ever know," Walker continued. "There are five and six kids in every Mexican family, and they take care of their own. If they find a drowned kid, they bury him pronto (quickly).

"So who knows how many are dead? No one will ever know for sure."

Infirm Travel to Cemetery Site of 'Bleeding' Statue

Throngs continued to be drawn this morning to St. Mary's Cemetery at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, where a statue of the Sacred Heart was discovered to have a blood-like substance around the forehead on Tuesday afternoon.

Heavy rain last night reportedly washed off the red substance, but by 11 a. m. today the markings were becoming steadily brighter and the substance was running over the side of the cape from the right shoulder and down toward the heart, according to Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone who had been on duty there.

More than 100 persons were visiting the cemetery at 11 a. m. today, many of them from Albany, where the morning's issue of the Albany Times Union carried an account of the discovery.

Out-of-State Cars

Last night, hundreds visited the location, and many of the vehicles displayed Connecticut or New Jersey license plates. Sheriff's men were assigned to traffic duty, and reported that at one time Route 9W was parked solid along both shoulders for a long distance, and similar solid rows of parked cars were present at a road paralleling 9W at the rear of the cemetery.

Among those who came were sufferers from cerebral palsy, blindness and other infirmities, it was reported.

At 1 p. m. Wednesday, Father Malloy of St. Mary's Church in Saugerties requested sheriff's men not to allow any vehicles in the cemetery, fearing an accident, because of the many pedestrian men, women and children there.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz called Peter Williams, supervisor, and through his aid Henry Luhrs, town superintendent of highways, had snow fence erected to keep motor vehicles from the cemetery.

Laboratory's Report

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, had tested samples of the substance yesterday and disclosed that it was not blood. He described it as an amorphous substance. Amphorous is defined as having no determinate form.

The official report released by District Attorney Howard C. St. John said, "Benzidine tests for blood — negative. On microscopic examination, material appears to

Pardee Would Buy Golf Club Parcel

Arthur A. Davis, president of Wiltwyck Golf Club, yesterday confirmed a report that negotiations for the sale of approximately 30 acres of land to Robert Pardee were under way. The property involved is that portion of the golf club property which lies to the east of the new Thruway which cuts the golf club property in two.

The property, for which negotiation of a contract to purchase is now under way, adjoins the Spring Lake property of Pardee and extends from the new Thruway alignment east to Lucas avenue extension.

Asked as to what he intended to do with the property if the present negotiations are concluded, Louis G. Bruhn, attorney for Pardee, said it would be "developed." Recently a number of homes have been erected in that vicinity.

At present the property is being used as a portion of the Wiltwyck club course but completion of the new course by the club, which incidentally will be an eighteen hole course, will eliminate the use of the acreage east of the Thruway.

Mr. Bruhn indicated possession of the property by Pardee, if negotiations are completed, would not be for several months.

New State Laws Increase Benefits for Sick, Injured

Albany, July 1 (AP)—Increased benefits for sick and injured workers took effect today.

Two new state laws, enacted last winter to aid workmen idled by physical disability, became effective as of July 1, the 40th anniversary of the original state workmen's compensation act.

At the same time, other measures cleared the way for a crackdown on the sale of comic books considered obscene, barred the use of a person's name in a charity drive without his consent, and made it a violation of state law to operate an unlicensed still.

The first of the workers' benefit laws will increase workmen's compensation payments by an estimated 20 million dollars a year. It increases from $32 to $36 a week the maximum payment for injuries suffered on the job and from $35 to $40 a week the maximum benefit for widows of workers killed in industrial accidents.

The total cost of the increase, amounting to about 6 or 7 per cent more than present workmen's compensation costs, will be borne by employers. However, Gov. Dewey is on record as being "hopeful" that an overall study of costs will lead to eventual reductions between current levels.

The other measure increases from $30 to $33 a week the maximum disability benefit for a worker idled by illness or injury not connected with his job.

It is estimated that, in most cases, disability insurance firms will be able to absorb the added costs without increasing premiums. The program is financed partly through employe contribu-

U. S. Presses Pact For Southeast Asia

Dulles Meanwhile Pledges U. S. Aid for People of Guatemala

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The United States pressed on today for early creation of an anti-Communist pact in southeast Asia while hailing a victory over international communism in Guatemala.

Two developments marked the fight with the far-flung forces which American officials say act in accord with a Kremlin master policy.

1. Secretary of State Dulles, cautioning that "communism" is still a menace everywhere," pledged the support of the United States to the people of Guatemala in their efforts to build a "prosperous and progressive" and non-Communist nation.

2. The United States joined Australia and New Zealand in a declaration that there is "need for immediate action" to bring about early establishment of a collective defense in southeast Asia.

Meets With Two

The three nations are signers of a Mutual Defense Treaty. Dulles met yesterday with Australia's Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and New Zealand's Ambassador Leslie Knox Munro. Together they form a council set up by the "Anzus" Pact which takes its name from initials of the three countries.

Their declaration went beyond the agreement on a southeast Asian collective defense announced Monday by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill. The latter two said they would press forward with plans to secure southeast Asia against communism whether the war in Indochina is ended or continues.

Diplomats agreed that the Anzus statement expressed a greater sense of urgency and implied that American consultation with the British government on future plans would be paralleled by talks with Australia, New Zealand and other nations having direct interest in stemming the Communist tide.

Plans May Be Made

It was understood, too, that American officials believe concrete plans may be made shortly after July 10 when armistice negotiations between the French and Communist forces are supposed to be concluded. This would obviate waiting for the July 20 deadline for an Indochina peace settlement which was set by the new

Soviets Have Claim Nuclear Power Is Used to Give Electricity

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Russia might be able to use a lead in atomic industrial power development as a lever to out-maneuver the United States in the cold war between communism and the free world.

American atomic officials contemplated this prospect today in light of the Soviet's claim to have put into operation a nuclear power plant with a 5,000-kilowatt electrical power output.

There was no immediate official confirmation of the announcement made by Moscow radio yesterday. But there also was no disposition to deny that the Russians had succeeded in getting an atomic power plant into operation. Experts here well remembered the success of the Reds in producing a nuclear fission explosion in 1949—several years before the time generally predicted.

Instrument of Policy

Those who look upon peaceful use of atomic power as an instrument of national policy contend:

The nation which first succeeds in building practical atomic power plants capable of being assembled in components and shipped overseas will have an instrument to offer power-poor nations such as those of southeast and southern Asia, the Middle East, North Africa and in similar places.

If Russia should be ready first for the building and export of such plants, they say, she would have a good bargain to offer small nations which might be wavering between the free world and communism.

One of Arguments

This is one of the arguments of those who urged a speed-up in the United States atomic industrial power development program, to telescope into something less than 5 years what they say would otherwise be a 10-year period

Action to Recover $150,000 Is Begun In County Court

Case Is Brought Against County in Death of Truckman April 1

An action to recover $150,000 from the county of Ulster has been commenced as a result of the accident at Kerhonkson on April 1, 1954, when a trailer truck, owned by Joseph Velthaus of Fair Lawn, N. J.; and driven by Walter H. Awe, went out of control and crashed into the Brown Drug store on Main street, Kerhonkson.

Awe, who lived at Old Tappan, N. J., was injured fatally.

The action is brought against the county on the theory the county maintained a dangerous condition at the scene and that the steep grade was not properly posted with warning signs, that the roadway was negligently maintained by the county and that the condition had existed for a long time without remedy being taken.

Cashin and Ewig appear for plaintiffs. The action is brought on behalf of Ella E. Awe, wife, and her daughter, Judith Rose Awe, and his mother and father, Hans and Anne Awe.

Papers were served Wednesday in the action by plaintiffs on County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., and also upon the chairman of the

Ferguson Says Democrats Are Becoming 'Crybabies'

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) accused Republicans today of trying to brand the Democrats as "traitors" and Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.) retorted that the Democrats are becoming "crybabies."

This clash of expressions came amidst these political developments likely to have an impact on the November election battle for control of Congress:

1. House Republican leaders maneuvered for a compromise on the Eisenhower administration's flexible farm price support plan while Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas claimed victory for rigid supports in today's crucial House vote.

2. Both sides claimed a political victory in an administration defeat of a Senate Democratic move to cut income taxes, after the Democrats had scuttled a Republican plan for lesser cuts.

3. Democrats outnumbered Republicans in voting yesterday for passage of the administration's foreign aid bill, prompting Rayburn to remark that "it looks like we need more Democrats in Congress to help the President get his program through."

4. President Eisenhower called for bipartisan cooperation on foreign affairs, while declining to repudiate criticisms voiced by Vice President Nixon against policies of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, commented that "there just isn't any

Girls Give Testimony

District Attorney Richard Bookhout said Raymond Fink and Miss Hotaling had been arrested after state police heard testimony from two teen-aged girls. Bookhout refused to elaborate.

Police said Gordon Fink had been negotiating to purchase a piece of lake-side property that the Stantons owned.

State Police Capt. Carl A. Lawson said his investigation thus far

Hundreds Others May Be Dead in Mexican Village

Eagle Pass, Tex., July 1 (AP)—At least 55 persons are dead in the Rio Grande's most devastating flood in history, but the death toll might rise to disaster proportions today.

Across the river from here, at miserable Piedras Negras, Mexico, it was feared hundreds may have died in the collapsed adobe (mud and straw) huts of the poor.

Of the counted dead, 38 were at Piedras Negras. Nearly 100 miles north of the river, at Ozona, Tex., one of the flash floods which fed Rio Grande's swollen stream Monday killed at least 16 others. Another died in a Pecos river flood.

Upstream at Del Rio, Tex., and Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, and downstream at Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, there were few casualties and no deaths. Adequate warnings and other safeguards plus organization paid off, officials said.

Many Go to Hospitals

Large numbers of sick and injured were making their way toward makeshift hospitals last night in Piedras Negras. Sixty-five injured were in a temporary medical shelter, and more moved in every minute.

At least 15,000 were homeless and some 7,000 refugees huddled in the hills of Coahuila with no shelter, no food and no water. About 80 per cent of the homes in the city of 35,000 was flooded. Half of them were destroyed as the adobe brick crumbled.

The true death count conceivably may never be known.

"From what I hear, there may be anywhere from 200 to 500 dead," said H. G. Walker, U. S. Public Health Service official here to help in rescue and rehabilitation.

Will Never Know

"Non one will ever know," Walker continued. "There are five and six kids in every Mexican family, and they take care of their own. If they find a drowned kid, they bury him pronto (quickly).

"So who knows how many are dead? No one will ever know for sure."

Manuel Olivares,, a lumberman of Piedras Negras, told the story

U. S. Presses Pact For Southeast Asia

Dulles Meanwhile Pledges U. S. Aid for People of Guatemala

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The United States pressed on today for early creation of an anti-Communist pact in southeast Asia while hailing a victory over international communism in Guatemala.

Two developments marked the fight with the far-flung forces which American officials say act in accord with a Kremlin master policy.

1. Secretary of State Dulles, cautioning that "communism" is still a menace everywhere," pledged the support of the United States to the people of Guatemala in their efforts to build a "'prosperous and progressive" and non-Communist nation.

2. The United States joined Australia and New Zealand in a declaration that there is "need for immediate action" to bring about early establishment of a collective defense in southeast Asia.

Meets With Two

The three nations are signers of a Mutual Defense Treaty. Dulles met yesterday with Australia's Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and New Zealand's Ambassador Leslie Knox Munro. Together they form a council set up by the "Anzus" Pact which takes its name from initials of the three countries.

Their declaration went beyond the agreement on a southeast Asian collective defense announced Monday by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill. The latter two said they would press forward with plans to secure southeast Asia against communism whether the war in Indochina is ended or continues.

Diplomats agreed that the Anzus statement expressed a greater sense of urgency and implied that American consultation with the British government on future plans would be paralleled by talks with Australia, New Zealand and other nations having direct interest in stemming the Communist tide.

Plans May Be Made

It was understood, too, that American officials believe concrete plans may be made shortly after July 10 when armistice negotiations between the French and Communist forces are supposed to be concluded. This would obviate waiting for the July 20 deadline for an Indochina peace settlement which was set by the new

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Russia might be able to use a lead in atomic industrial power development as a lever to out-maneuver the United States in the cold war between communism and the free world.

American atomic officials contemplated this prospect today in light of the Soviet's claim to have put into operation a nuclear power plant with a 5,000-kilowatt electrical power output.

There was no immediate official confirmation of the announcement made by Moscow radio yesterday. But there also was no disposition to deny that the Russians had succeeded in getting an atomic power plant into operation. Experts here well remembered the success of the Reds in producing a nuclear fission explosion in 1949—several years before the time generally predicted.

Instrument of Policy

Those who look upon peaceful use of atomic power as an instrument of national policy contend:

The nation which first succeeds in building practical atomic power plants capable of being assembled in components and shipped overseas will have an instrument to offer power-poor nations such as those of southeast and southern Asia, the Middle East, North Africa and in similar places.

If Russia should be ready first for the building and export of such plants, they say, she would have a good bargain to offer small nations which might be wavering between the free world and communism.

One of Arguments

This is one of the arguments of those who urged a speed-up in the United States atomic industrial power development program, to telescope into something less than 5 years what they say would otherwise be a 10-year period

Action to Recover $150,000 Is Begun In County Court

Case Is Brought Against County in Death of Truckman April 1

An action to recover $150,000 from the county of Ulster has been commenced as a result of the accident at Kerhonkson on April 1, 1954, when a trailer truck, owned by Joseph Velthaus of Fair Lawn, N. J.; and driven by Walter H. Awe, went out of control and crashed into the Brown Drug store on Main street, Kerhonkson.

Awe, who lived at Old Tappan, N. J., was injured fatally.

The action is brought against the county on the theory the county maintained a dangerous condition at the scene and that the steep grade was not properly posted with warning signs, that the roadway was negligently maintained by the county and that the condition had existed for a long time without remedy being taken.

Cashin and Ewig appear for plaintiffs. The action is brought on behalf of Ella E. Awe, wife, and her daughter, Judith Rose Awe, and his mother and father, Hans and Anne Awe.

Papers Served

Papers were served Wednesday in the action by plaintiffs on County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., and also upon the chairman of the Adult Driving Classes Are to Be Organized

Two new driver training classes for adults will be formed Tuesday, July 6, at 9:30 a. m., in Room V-110 of the new Vocational Building.

The classes will meet on Mondays, one from 4:30 to 6:30, the other from 6:30 to 8:30 for related instruction and then in groups of four on one other day of the week for behind-the-wheel instruction.

The first meeting for these classes will be held Tuesday.

Infirm Travel to Cemetery Site of 'Bleeding' Statue

Throngs continued to be drawn this morning to St. Mary's Cemetery at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, where a statue of the Sacred Heart was discovered to have a blood-like substance around the forehead on Tuesday afternoon.

Heavy rain last night reportedly washed off the red substance, but by 11 a. m. today the markings were becoming steadily brighter and the substance was running over the side of the cape from the right shoulder and down toward the heart, according to Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone who had been on duty there.

More than 100 persons were visiting the cemetery at 11 a. m. today, many of them from Albany, where the morning's issue of the Albany Times Union carried an account of the discovery.

Out-of-State Cars

Last night, hundreds visited the location, and many of the vehicles displayed Connecticut or New Jersey license plates. Sheriff's men were assigned to traffic duty, and reported that at one time Route 9W was parked solid along both shoulders for a long distance, and similar solid rows of parked cars were present at a road paralleling 9W at the rear of the cemetery.

Among those who came were sufferers from cerebral palsy, blindness and other infirmities, it was reported.

At 1 p. m. Wednesday, Father Malloy of St. Mary's Church in Saugerties requested sheriff's men not to allow any vehicles in the cemetery, fearing an accident, because of the many pedestrian men, women and children there.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz called Peter Williams, supervisor, and through his aid Henry Luhrs, town superintendent of highways, had snow fence erected to keep motor vehicles from the cemetery.

Laboratory's Report

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, had tested samples of the substance yesterday and disclosed that it was not blood. He described it as an amorphous substance. Amphorous is defined as having no determinate form.

The official report released by District Attorney Howard C. St. John said, "Benzidine tests for blood — negative. On microscopic examination, material appears to

Pardee Would Buy Golf Club Parcel

Arthur A. Davis, president of Wiltwyck Golf Club, yesterday confirmed a report that negotiations for the sale of approximately 30 acres of land to Robert Pardee were under way. The property involved is that portion of the golf club property which lies to the east of the new Thruway which cuts the golf club property in two.

The property, for which negotiation of a contract to purchase is now under way, adjoins the Spring Lake property of Pardee and extends from the new Thruway alignment east to Lucas avenue extension.

Asked as to what he intended to do with the property if the present negotiations are concluded, Louis G. Bruhn, attorney for Pardee, said it would be "developed." Recently a number of homes have been erected in that vicinity.

At present the property is being used as a portion of the Wiltwyck club course but completion of the new course by the club, which incidentally will be an eighteen hole course, will eliminate the use of the acreage east of the Thruway.

Mr. Bruhn indicated possession of the property by Pardee, if negotiations are completed, would not be for several months.

New State Laws Increase Benefits for Sick, Injured

Albany, July 1 (AP)—Increased benefits for sick and injured workers took effect today.

Two new state laws, enacted last winter to aid workmen idled by physical disability, became effective as of July 1, the 40th anniversary of the original state workmen's compensation act.

At the same time, other measures cleared the way for a crackdown on the sale of comic books considered obscene, barred the use of a person's name in a charity drive without his consent, and made it a violation of state law to operate an unlicensed still.

The first of the workers' benefit laws will increase workmen's compensation payments by an estimated 20 million dollars a year. It increases from $32 to $36 a week the maximum payment for injuries suffered on the job and from $35 to $40 a week the maximum benefit for widows of workers killed in industrial accidents.

The total cost of the increase, amounting to about 6 or 7 per cent more than present workmen's compensation costs, will be borne by employers. However, Gov. Dewey is on record as being "hopeful" that an overall study of costs will lead to eventual reductions between current levels.

The other measure increases from $30 to $33 a week the maximum disability benefit for a worker idled by illness or injury not connected with his job.

It is estimated that, in most cases, disability insurance firms will be able to absorb the added costs without increasing premiums. The program is financed partly through employe contribu-

Ferguson Says Democrats Are Becoming 'Crybabies'

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D.-Ala.) accused Republicans today of trying to brand the Democrats as "traitors" and Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.) retorted that the Democrats are becoming "crybabies."

This clash of expressions came amidst these political developments likely to have an impact on the November election battle for control of Congress:

1. House Republican leaders maneuvered for a compromise on the Eisenhower administration's flexible farm price support plan while Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas claimed victory for rigid supports in today's crucial House vote.

2. Both sides claimed a political victory in an administration defeat of a Senate Democratic move to cut income taxes, after the Democrats had scuttled a Republican plan for lesser cuts.

3. Democrats outnumbered Republicans in voting yesterday for passage of the administration's foreign aid bill, prompting Rayburn to remark that "it looks like we need more Democrats in Congress to help the President get his program through."

4. President Eisenhower called for bipartisan cooperation on foreign affairs, while declining to repudiate criticisms voiced by Vice President Nixon against policies of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, commented that "there just isn't any

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Zoning Meeting May Be Called in Fall

New Paltz, July 1—The regular village board meeting was held in the municipal building June 28 with Trustee Robert Jansen and Marinus Petersen present, also Wilbur Fredenburgh, clerk; Frank Slack, treasurer, and Mayor Robert Reid presiding.

A letter was read from the local Chamber of Commerce saying that several inquiries have been received by them concerning the zoning of the village. The board decided to comply with the request of some action on this subject by holding a public hearing sometime in the future, probably early in the fall. It also was reported that if the people of New Paltz desire zoning, they would be glad to hear from them, either by organizations, or petitions.

A letter from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Taxation and Finance Department informed the board that the new traffic violation tickets will be effective as of Oct. 1, 1954.

Town Supervisor Frank Elliott read a letter to the village board informing them of the combined policy available to both boards to cover the volunteer firemen for both town and village. The cost of two separate policies would be $374 for the town, and $516 for the village or a total cost of $890. A combined policy would cost the town $327.20 and the village $442.80, or a total of $770. A combined policy would be a saving of $46.80 for the town, and $73.20 for the village, or a total saving of $120. The policy and its cost is based on population figures—the town population of 1464 or 39 per cent and the village population of 2285 or 61 per cent. The village board requested that the town board have the combined policy written for both town and village to be effective July when the other policy expires.

Upon the request of the firemen the village board will act as judges for the parade at the firemen's convention to be held in New Paltz July 24.

Treasurer Slack reported that approximately two thirds of the water receipts and taxes due have been received to date.

$576 From Meters

In Slack's report he pointed out the returns from the parking meters for June are $576.37. There is one more collection to be made before the completion of one full year of their use. Thus far the total collection is $6,374.88.

Mayor Reid pointed out that the local problems faced with in New Paltz are similar to the ones being met in Messina. Mayor Fornea of Messina spoke at the Mayors' Convention held recently, which Mayor Reid and Trustee Kelly Campbell attended. The problems in Messina arise from the increase of population as most of the problems locally arise from an ever increase of population; therefore the mayor of New Paltz feels New Paltz might use Messina as an example in following its procedure to meet its problems. More will be discussed about this subject in the future.

Police Hike Granted

An increase in annual pay for the police force was granted at $100, effective June 1.

A 24-hour test was made on the water pumps, and it was discovered that after starting up the automatic controls following a shut-off period of several hours, the same trouble as has been in the past arose—namely, air in the pipes.

The depths of the wells is 16 to 18 feet. They pumped approximately 400 gallons a minute, 24,000 gallons an hour, or 576,000 gallons in a period of 24 hours. It pumped more than twice the daily consumption. In the six days and three hours trial period this past week it pumped 1,401,000 gallons. It was found that there is loss of storage on the tank every day, and the village went back to using the reservoir water Monday, June 28.

New Paltz, July 1—The regular meeting of the Mary Beattie group of the Reformed Church will be held Friday, July 9 instead of Friday, July 2, as was originally scheduled.

Jones, president; Mrs. Paul Kurtz, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Clarkson, secretary and Mrs. Schuyler Millham, treasurer. NEW PALTZ NEWS

Zoning Meeting May Be Called in Fall

New Paltz, July 1—The regular village board meeting was held in the municipal building June 28 with Trustee Robert Jansen and Marinus Petersen present, also Wilbur Fredenburgh, clerk; Frank Slack, treasurer, and Mayor Robert Reid presiding.

A letter was read from the local Chamber of Commerce saying that several inquiries have been received by them concerning the zoning of the village. The board decided to comply with the request of some action on this subject by holding a public hearing sometime in the future, probably early in the fall. It also was reported that if the people of New Paltz desire zoning, they would be glad to hear from them, either by organizations, or petitions.

A letter from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Taxation and Finance Department informed the board that the new traffic violation tickets will be effective as of Oct. 1, 1954.

Town Supervisor Frank Elliott read a letter to the village board informing them of the combined policy available to both boards to cover the volunteer firemen for both town and village. The cost of two separate policies would be $374 for the town, and $516 for the village or a total cost of $890. A combined policy would cost the town $327.20 and the village $442.80, or a total of $770. A combined policy would be a saving of $46.80 for the town, and $73.20 for the village, or a total saving of $120. The policy and its cost is based on population figures—the town population of 1464 or 39 per cent and the village population of 2285 or 61 per cent. The village board requested that the town board have the combined policy written for both town and village to be effective July when the other policy expires.

Upon the request of the firemen the village board will act as judges for the parade at the firemen's convention to be held in New Paltz July 24.

Treasurer Slack reported that approximately two thirds of the water receipts and taxes due have been received to date.

$576 From Meters

In Slack's report he pointed out the returns from the parking meters for June are $576.37. There is one more collection to be made before the completion of one full year of their use. Thus far the total collection is $6,374.88.

Mayor Reid pointed out that the local problems faced with in New Paltz are similar to the ones being met in Messina. Mayor Fornea of Messina spoke at the Mayors' Convention held recently, which Mayor Reid and Trustee Kelly Campbell attended. The problems in Messina arise from the increase of population as most of the problems locally arise from an ever increase of population; therefore the mayor of New Paltz feels New Paltz might use Messina as an example in following its procedure to meet its problems. More will be discussed about this subject in the future.

Police Hike Granted

An increase in annual pay for the police force was granted at $100, effective June 1.

A 24-hour test was made on the water pumps, and it was discovered that after starting up the automatic controls following a shut-off period of several hours, the same trouble as has been in the past arose—namely, air in the pipes.

The depths of the wells is 16 to 18 feet. They pumped approximately 400 gallons a minute, 24,000 gallons an hour, or 576,000 gallons in a period of 24 hours. It pumped more than twice the daily consumption. In the six days and three hours trial period this past week it pumped 1,401,000 gallons. It was found that there is loss of storage on the tank every day, and the village went back to using the reservoir water Monday, June 28.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 1, 1954

DEWEY'S DECISION

Four years ago Governor Dewey of New York declared pretty firmly that he would not seek a third term, but he changed his mind. Now, according to close friends, he is saying that only a shooting war by September could induce him to run for a fourth term.

In view of his 1950 switch, it is natural that there are some who view this disclosure with skepticism. But the governor's language, as conveyed by his friends, is very strong.

He is said to have used the word "irrevocable" to describe his decision, and to have indicated he would not even accept a high post in President Eisenhower's administration. He is reported to want private life.

Certainly until Dewey gives positive sign of another change of mind, politicians will feel free to speculate about New York on the assumption the governor really means it this time.

One thing seems utterly clear from the GOP standpoint. If it is not to be Dewey, then it must be some other strong "name" candidate.

For the Democrats are evidently leaning toward a choice of Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. And no sane politician would pretend that such a name candidate could be licked by a relative unknown.

The most likely Republican prospect at this moment is Senator Irving Ives, now serving his second successive Senate term. In 1952 he proved himself a powerful vote-getter in New York state, rolling up a winning margin bigger than Mr. Eisenhower's. Ives is understood to prefer staying where he is, but to be amenable to party pressures if they are strong enough.

Barring the surprise entry of some other well-known figure, the pressures surely should be heavy. New York state is still the great election prize.

Whoever holds its governorship is automatically a key factor in his party's presidential deliberations. Whichever party occupies the State House possesses undeniably great strength when the final presidential test is had at the polls.

If anyone wishes proof, especially of New York's influence in nominating a presidential choice, he need but recall the fact that, under Dewey's stern leadership, the 1952 New York delegation to the GOP convention cast 92 of the 595 votes won by Mr. Eisenhower on the initial ballot.

If Governor Dewey's decision is indeed irrevocable, the tremors it will produce on the political seismographs of both parties will be felt in every corner of the land. Though none of us could possibly guess in what specific way, it might well determine the outcome of the 1956 presidential election.

Just when an invention is not needed, here it comes. Many people in the north have labored through the past winter, trying to keep their driveways free from snow. Now the Army announces that it is making a 107-ton railroad rotary snow plow which will throw 300 tons of snow a minute, 110 feet in any direction at any chosen angle. Just what the careworn householder needs.

A good sportsman must be tough enough to win his contest, but not tough enough to kick his opponent when he is down.

ICE BOX BONFIRE

Old, abandoned iceboxes have been responsible for the deaths of many children throughout the country. The youngsters find the boxes, decide to hide inside them and the doors swing shut to trap them.

Recently citizens and civic organizations in the Cleveland, Ohio, area decided to do something to protect their children against this danger. They collected old ice-boxes that had been abandoned. Those that were still serviceable were presented to camps and institutions which could use them. The rest were burned in a community bonfire ceremony.

Many communities have passed ordinances against abandoning iceboxes, some require that doors and hinges be removed before they are disposed of. Taking legislative action is often wise and justified when it means providing protection for children. But intelligent action by individuals and citizen groups can also accomplish a great deal to meet common problems.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THEY CAN'T UNDERSTAND US

When countries are allied to each other, it is necessary for them to understand each other. They need to recognize not only that there are differences in approach and manner but also that where there are apparent similarities, the end objectives may not be the same. That the United States is misunderstood is obvious from the increasing neutralism.

John J. McCloy, after he had served his term as High Commissioner for Germany, said:

"The advantages of the American system and its departures from the backward capitalism which has in the past characterized European life are largely unknown among the rank and file of Socialists of Europe. Moreover, the very fact that the American economy has been successful in distributing its advantages in a classless manner stirs some of the doctrinaire Socialists into a sort of ideological excitement of antagonisms that cannot be ignored. This is one of the basic problems facing American representation abroad and it is one which must be dealt with."

The Socialists to whom McCloy refers are anti-Communists and should be our allies. They cannot believe that the United States has achieved its high productivity in a classless society because they have never witnessed such a society.

In Asia, the misunderstanding is even greater. When it is stated that we employ more than 60,000,000 people without exploitation, that our wage scale even in industrial establishments is equivalent to upper middle-class annual earnings, that laborers own their own automobiles, electrical refrigerators, television sets, etc., it is not believed because it has not been experienced in those countries. In Buddhist countries, this lack of belief is complicated by a worship of poverty. Men's souls are not saved by the possession of material things but by the rejection of material things. Did not Gautama himself give up the wealth of a prince to sit under a banyan tree, beggar's cup in hand?

How to state the American case so that it will be understood is not anything that can be reached by a snap formula. McCloy faced the difficulty when he said:

"This thinking has cut deep into areas where one would imagine that America would find widest understanding. I have in mind particularly the European Socialists, who have developed a certain coolness toward the U. S. This is disturbing because the Socialist movement is old and established in Europe and because large segments among the Socialists are liberal-minded individuals."

In the United States today there is no effective Socialist Party unless the A.D.A. (Americans for Democratic Action) is regarded as such. The old Norman Thomas Socialists have disappeared. With the exception of the Rand School and the magazine, "The New Leader," no Socialist voice exists. The Socialist Labor Party has become a fractional splinter group of no significance.

The A.D.A., while it gives the general impression of being somewhat like the Fabian Socialists of Great Britain, controls no political party and has a voice in Congress only as a faction of the Democratic Party. A.D.A. Democrats and liberal Republicans are so close to each other that it is impossible to distinguish between them in ideas, just as conservative Democrats and Republicans are normal American traditionalists. Actually, the line of demarcation between the parties in the United States is political rather than ideological.

Thus the European finds it extremely difficult to understand what the American political system really is. The European Socialist parties in Europe are old and established and respectable. The word Socialist appended to a political party's name is not descriptive of radicalism; it might even denote a fairly conservative party which bases itself on social consciousness rather than on Marxism.

For instance, in France, the great party of the "Third Republic," the party that is now in power under Pierre Mendes France, and whose leaders included such figures as Edouard Herriot, Rene Mayer, Henri Queuille, and Edouard Daladier, goes by the name of the Radical Socialist Party. By our standards this party would be regarded as fairly conservative, about in the center between the Communists and the De Gaullists. In Italy, the Social Movement is faithful to the memory of Mussolini.

The point is that names do not count; only ideas are descriptive of men's purposes and methods. The Europeans are as puzzled about our politics as about our social and economic systems and shy away from what they do not understand.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TONSILS AND POLIO

I write frequently about the effect that the removal of tonsils and adenoids has on patients with poliomyelitis of the bulbar (crippling) type. There still seems to be some doubt as to whether there is a definite relationship between these two conditions. The Journal of the American Medical Association gives us some more figures in this argument.

"Of 800 patients with poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), 500 had at one time or another, undergone the operation of "tonsillo-adenoidectomy" (removal of tonsils and adenoids); while 300 had not been so operated upon. Of 85 patients with the bulbar type of poliomyelitis, 73 had had their tonsils removed while only 12 cases of this same type of infection appeared in those who still had their tonsils or adenoids.

This means that those who had their tonsils out were six times as likely to have the severe form of polio!

To show us how these 800 cases were grouped as to age, we are told that between ages of 6 days and 5 years there were 122

between ages of 6 years and 10 years there were 212
between ages of 11 years and 15 years there were 168
between ages of 16 years and 20 years there were 82
between ages of 21 years and 30 years there were 145
between ages of 31 years and 40 years there were 64
between ages of 41 years and 56 years there were 7

This means that of the 800 cases, 502 were less than 15 years of age and 729 were thirty years of age or less. No wonder poliomyelitis was originally known as infantile paralysis as it seems to affect the younger age groups so strongly.

Thus we see that patients who have had their tonsils or adenoids removed appear to be more susceptible; once they do contract polio, to develop the bulbar or bulbospinal (more serious) types of the disease.

They appear to have a decreased resistance to the disease. An interesting point about this was that it did not seem to matter at what time in the past the tonsils and adenoids had been removed. These patients still were more likely to develop serious polio even if tonsils had been removed a long time in the past.

A great deal of study has been given to whether it is wise to remove tonsils during or prior to the polio season. This has yielded good results but now we must remember that even having had tonsils removed a long time in the past makes us more susceptible to polio, than those who have never had this operaton.

Yeh, Let's Be Practical for a Change

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The Eisenhower administration has definitely rejected "pump priming" as a device to relieve U. S. unemployment.

President Eisenhower indicated this course of action in his March 24 press conference statement that no "slam bang" emergency program is needed. Developments since that time have confirmed the administration belief that indirect methods of bolstering the U. S. economy are better than government relief of any kind.

What this means is that the pleas made by AFL President George Meany, CIO President Walter Reuther, Harvard Economist Sumner Slichter, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois and others for a federal government action program to relieve unemployment are going to be ignored.

The political implications of this decision are summed up in a belief that while bad employment conditions may make it possible to lose an election, good employment conditions, by themselves, can't win the coming November elections.

There is plenty of optimism in Washington for an October pick-up in business. One indication of this is found in the Federal Reserve Board action, reducing bank reserve requirements and providing more credit for the normal fall harvest and crop movement.

There is also a prevalent feeling that all the pump priming of the Roosevelt era really did no good. What pulled the country out of the depression, it is explained, was the war spending.

What the country has been going through in the past year, according to the Republican point of view, is a shift from an inflationary war economy back to more normal peacetime business.

Government spending has been cut back by $10 billion. Over $7 billion of this has been returned to the civilian economy in the form of tax cuts.

The idea of making up the difference of $3 billion by a government spending program has been rejected. It is felt that to do so would cut back private spending by that amount and so delay recovery.

It is admitted that government buying can't be stopped without causing some unemployment. The explanation is that, "We did this to ourselves," as a necessary readjustment. The problem it created is analyzed as how fast people can be put back to work on civilian goods production after cutting government defense spending.

While it is felt that the government might impede this recovery by doing the wrong thing, there is little that can be done by the government directly to speed it up. An inflationary spending program at this time is given as an example of a wrong action.

This philosophy puts entire reliance for the government's recovery program on indirect aids to the economy. Among the steps that the administration has taken in this direction are the removal of price and wage controls to free the economy for expansion, stabilization of the dollar, tax cuts and the tax reform bill passed by the House and now before the Senate.

The idea of increasing personal exemptions for federal individual income taxes, as a means of providing more money for spending and so relieving unemployment, is still flatly rejected. On the other hand, particular emphasis is placed on the advisability of reducing taxes on dividends as a stimulus to investment and business expansion. This is regarded as the best way to create new employment.

Public works that contribute to America's productive capacity are not to be frowned on, if and when there is enough money to finance them. It is the "leaf-raking" type of government aid program to relieve unemployment that is rejected.

The seriousness of unemployment to workers without jobs—now numbering over three million—seems to be fully recognized. But there appears to be no inclination on the part of administration leaders to remedy the situation by direct government spending.

Rappoport, who headed the Nationalist party ticket, was selected in elections last night.

Melvyn S. Rosenthal of the Bronx, his running mate, was elected lieutenant governor.

The 960 delegates attending the week-long program split their ballots between the Nationalist and Federalist parties, electing Federalists Philip L. Brown of Glens Falls as state comptroller and William B. Henry of Crestwood, attorney general.

Court of Appeals seats went to William E. West of Ithaca and Gustave L. Davis of Laurelton, both Federalists, and Nationalists Thomas G. Van Nostrand of Poughkeepsie and Donald A. Schmutz and D. Roger Murdock, both of Queens.

The delegates were scheduled to convene their first mock legislative session today.

There Is Good Reason, Despite Cynics, to Accept Washington Joint Statement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 1—Words, just words? Or basic principles of morality in the conduct of world affairs?

These are the two possible impressions which a cynic or an idealist, respectively, can derive from a reading of the joint statement by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill.

But there is every reason to accept the words as a new "Washington charter" and as an inspiring step along the difficult road of present-day relations between allies.

For some significant things really have been proclaimed. They can be summarized thus:

1. America and Britain hold out the hand of friendship to all nations "which by solemn pledge and confirming deeds show themselves desirous of participating in a just and fair peace." This reaffirms the American position and, by the emphasis on "deed," shows Soviet Russia the way to peace.

2. The principle of self-government is upheld and "colonialism" in its worst sense is repudiated, because Britain and America will strive only "by every peaceful means to secure the independence of all countries whose peoples desire and are capable of sustaining an independent existence." For what is the good of granting independence to nations not ready for it and which can become the prey of a Communist aggressor? That's a question America has asked before but it has never been so clearly answered as now.

3. America and Britain continue their support of the United Nations and of existing international organizations for common protection and security, and they "urge the establishment and maintenance of such associations of nations as will best, in their respective regions, preserve the peace and independence of the peoples living there." This gives renewed endorsement to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the organization of American States. It also pronounces a blessing on associations like the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization that may be created in the future.

4. America and Britain will "with our friends" develop and maintain the spiritual, economic and military strength necessary to pursue the peaceful purpose and attain the objectives enumerated in the new charter. Also every means will be sought to promote "the fuller and freer interchange among us (that is, among our allies) of goods and services which will benefit all participants."

These principles might perhaps be regrettably disregarded in the interest of national expediency some day but, having been written now explicitly and implicity in the form of an American-British agreement at the highest level, they take on a solemnity which will not make easy in the future any violation of the pledges given.

The written communique tells of high purposes and reflects an atmosphere of cordiality and understanding. There remain differences of approach and emphasis. Britain still feels inclinded to deal with Red China. But the so-called Locarno idea of a non-aggression pact is gone. American spokesmen made it clear that the United States couldn't agree to what is called the "status quo" in the world—the confirmation of existing seizures or controls by Communist imperialism or upholding the jurisdiction of colonial powers in every case.

The President and Secretary Dulles took the sound position that America isn't ready to sign any treaty obligating this country either to fight a war to alter the existing order in any country or to fight a war to preserve that status. This made a "non-aggression" pact wholly illogical, and there is evidence the British visitors in the end saw the matter the same way as do the American government officials.

Time will tell whether the renewed efforts by Britain at conciliating the Soviets will bear fruit. Meantime, it is essential that both political parties within the United States be united on foreign policy. It is unfortunate that the Democratic leaders, who themselves engaged in a merciless attack on Secretary Dulles when he first came back from Geneva, now should complain when Vice President Nixon answers them in kind.

A glance back at the newspaper clippings will reveal that Messrs. Truman, Acheson, Harriman, and certain senators and representatives let loose a partisan barrage at the very moment when the Indochina crisis was at its most delicate stage. It is not surprising that Vice President Nixon last Saturday in a political address pointed out that the troubles accumulated under the Democratic administration, starting with its withdrawal of moral support from Nationalist China at a critical moment which led to the loss of China and the ultimate building of Red China as the aggressor in Indochina.

But, now that the partisans on each side have had their say, it is time to call quits and really make a sincere effort to carry on a bipartisan foreign policy.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

Is it time to revise our thinking?

Which is the right track from now on?

These are the questions we have to ask ourselves, if I interpret the news correctly. (That is a tough thing to do, because of the thick overlay of propaganda which gets into print.)

We may find an utterly confusing shift in world affairs confronting us, because of the recent chain of events.

It will indeed be an ironical twist if the United States—which has labored politically to fight off the label of isolationism—is now to be isolated by the very friendly nations which we have been aiding liberally with both dollars and deeds.

The isolationists today are saying "we told you so," while the internationalists are frustrated by the extraordinary turn of events.

The world looked doubtingly upon the Geneva meetings, but hoped for some solution of the east-west tangle. Few expected, however, to see emerge as the victor a crafty negotiator from Red China; Chou En-lai, by name, premier and foreign minister from behind the bamboo curtain.

Left behind in Geneva as the other diplomats packed their pouches and pulled out, Chou has since made "state visits" that can change the whole course of our foreign policy, leaving us, as mentioned above, completely isolated. As he and Nehru of India pledged mutual goodwill and discussed their own Asian Alliance without the west, Chou made his position clear with these words:

"The age when outside forces could decide at will the fate of Asia has gone forever. The menace to the peace of Asia comes now from the outside, but Asia today is no longer the Asia of yesterday."

It is thought that the two leaders of nearly a billion Asians are formulating plans for an inter-Asia alliance which excludes the west. You will hear more about this in the immediate future no doubt.

The Ruminator is emphasizing all this (which doubtless you have got from your papers) because the probability of an inter-alliance among Red China, India, and other southeast Asian nations COUPLED WITH (1) the peaceful - co - existence - with - Communists policy of Churchill and Eden and (2) the peace-at-some-price in Indo-China on the part of France . . . the Ruminator emphasizes this because the interplay of these developments can radically upset all policies and plans we have been gradually getting accustomed to over the past several years.

It means, in cold realism, that the Communists are winning a tremendous victory in the Cold War. Nothing presently in view can prevent a Communist coalition that will include close to two-thirds of the world's population.

And—where are we left then?

Are we not just as isolated as if we had adopted the policy of "America for the Americans" which expression and others like it have been violently denounced by the internationalists? Also, one might add, we would be billions better off today. These are some of the thoughts and arguments that may soon be tossed about as people try to become oriented to the change in the course of events.

It is not a case of being "for" or "agin" a given policy. It won't make any difference if one personally favors the isolationist's view or that of the internationalist. We may be sure that if the United States is further out-maneuvered—and for all practical purposes, is frozen out of world councils—the trends of economics and politics will be vastly influenced.

Opinions, too, will veer and shift with the winds of propaganda and with the changes in the news. Accordingly, as the weeks pass this Ruminator feels confident you will find the theory of contrary opinion essential to keep a mental balance.

We are going to find the political atmosphere becoming cloudy as the Congress winds up and the fall elections draw nearer. The shift in the world's emphasis will undoubtedly shift voters' opinions as well. Some of the most articulate internationalists may find the going rougher than they have counted upon. People may again wonder if some of the former so-called isolationists were as wrong in their judgments (to stay away from foreign entanglements) as they have been propagandized to believe. It all makes exciting mental food for the contrarian, in any event.

Three Loads Arrive

Sampson Air Force Base, July 1 (AP)—Three plane loads of Connecticut youths, 227 strong, flew into this USAF indoctrination center Wednesday and became the largest group of trainees ever stationed here at one time from a single recruiting center. Two C54 Skymasters and a C118 Liftmaster were needed to bring the recruits in from Hartford. They will receive an 11-week indoctrination course, then move to various air training command schools for special training.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 1, 1954

DEWEY'S DECISION

Four years ago Governor Dewey of New York declared pretty firmly that he would not seek a third term, but he changed his mind. Now, according to close friends, he is saying that only a shooting war by September could induce him to run for a fourth term.

In view of his 1950 switch, it is natural that there are some who view this disclosure with skepticism. But the governor's language, as conveyed by his friends, is very strong.

He is said to have used the word "irrevocable" to describe his decision, and to have indicated he would not even accept a high post in President Eisenhower's administration. He is reported to want private life.

Certainly until Dewey gives positive sign of another change of mind, politicians will feel free to speculate about New York on the assumption the governor really means it this time.

One thing seems utterly clear from the GOP standpoint. If it is not to be Dewey, then it must be some other strong "name" candidate.

For the Democrats are evidently leaning toward a choice of Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. And no sane politician would pretend that such a name candidate could be licked by a relative unknown.

The most likely Republican prospect at this moment is Senator Irving Ives, now serving his second successive Senate term. In 1952 he proved himself a powerful vote-getter in New York state, rolling up a winning margin bigger than Mr. Eisenhower's. Ives is understood to prefer staying where he is, but to be amenable to party pressures if they are strong enough.

Barring the surprise entry of some other well-known figure, the pressures surely should be heavy. New York state is still the great election prize.

Whoever holds its governorship is automatically a key factor in his party's presidential deliberations. Whichever party occupies the State House possesses undeniably great strength when the final presidential test is had at the polls.

If anyone wishes proof, especially of New York's influence in nominating a presidential choice, he need but recall the fact that, under Dewey's stern leadership, the 1952 New York delegation to the GOP convention cast 92 of the 595 votes won by Mr. Eisenhower on the initial ballot.

If Governor Dewey's decision is indeed irrevocable, the tremors it will produce on the political seismographs of both parties will be felt in every corner of the land. Though none of us could possibly guess in what specific way, it might well determine the outcome of the 1956 presidential election.

Just when an invention is not needed, here it comes. Many people in the north have labored through the past winter, trying to keep their driveways free from snow. Now the Army announces that it is making a 107-ton railroad rotary snow plow which will throw 300 tons of snow a minute, 110 feet in any direction at any chosen angle. Just what the careworn householder needs.

A good sportsman must be tough enough to win his contest, but not tough enough to kick his opponent when he is down.

ICE BOX BONFIRE

Old, abandoned iceboxes have been responsible for the deaths of many children throughout the country. The youngsters find the boxes, decide to hide inside them and the doors swing shut to trap them.

Recently citizens and civic organizations in the Cleveland, Ohio, area decided to do something to protect their children against this danger. They collected old ice-boxes that had been abandoned. Those that were still serviceable were presented to camps and institutions which could use them. The rest were burned in a community bonfire ceremony.

Many communities have passed ordinances against abandoning iceboxes, some require that doors and hinges be removed before they are disposed of. Taking legislative action is often wise and justified when it means providing protection for children. But intelligent action by individuals and citizen groups can also accomplish a great deal to meet common problems.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THEY CAN'T UNDERSTAND US

When countries are allied to each other, it is necessary for them to understand each other. They need to recognize not only that there are differences in approach and manner but also that where there are apparent similarities, the end objectives may not be the same. That the United States is misunderstood is obvious from the increasing neutralism.

John J. McCloy, after he had served his term as High Commissioner for Germany, said:

"The advantages of the American system and its departures from the backward capitalism which has in the past characterized European life are largely unknown among the rank and file of Socialists of Europe. Moreover, the very fact that the American economy has been successful in distributing its advantages in a classless manner stirs some of the doctrinaire Socialists into a sort of ideological excitement of antagonisms that cannot be ignored. This is one of the basic problems facing American representation abroad and it is one which must be dealt with."

The Socialists to whom McCloy refers are anti-Communists and should be our allies. They cannot believe that the United States has achieved its high productivity in a classless society because they have never witnessed such a society.

In Asia, the misunderstanding is even greater. When it is stated that we employ more than 60,000,000 people without exploitation, that our wage scale even in industrial establishments is equivalent to upper middle-class annual earnings, that laborers own their own automobiles, electrical refrigerators, television sets, etc., it is not believed because it has not been experienced in those countries. In Buddhist countries, this lack of belief is complicated by a worship of poverty. Men's souls are not saved by the possession of material things but by the rejection of material things. Did not Gautama himself give up the wealth of a prince to sit under a banyan tree, beggar's cup in hand?

How to state the American case so that it will be understood is not anything that can be reached by a snap formula. McCloy faced the difficulty when he said:

"This thinking has cut deep into areas where one would imagine that America would find widest understanding. I have in mind particularly the European Socialists, who have developed a certain coolness toward the U. S. This is disturbing because the Socialist movement is old and established in Europe and because large segments among the Socialists are liberal-minded individuals."

In the United States today there is no effective Socialist Party unless the A.D.A. (Americans for Democratic Action) is regarded as such. The old Norman Thomas Socialists have disappeared. With the exception of the Rand School and the magazine, "The New Leader," no Socialist voice exists. The Socialist Labor Party has become a fractional splinter group of no significance.

The A.D.A., while it gives the general impression of being somewhat like the Fabian Socialists of Great Britain, controls no political party and has a voice in Congress only as a faction of the Democratic Party. A.D.A. Democrats and liberal Republicans are so close to each other that it is impossible to distinguish between them in ideas, just as conservative Democrats and Republicans are normal American traditionalists. Actually, the line of demarcation between the parties in the United States is political rather than ideological.

Thus the European finds it extremely difficult to understand what the American political system really is. The European Socialist parties in Europe are old and established and respectable. The word Socialist appended to a political party's name is not descriptive of radicalism; it might even denote a fairly conservative party which bases itself on social consciousness rather than on Marxism.

For instance, in France, the great party of the "Third Republic," the party that is now in power under Pierre Mendes France, and whose leaders included such figures as Edouard Herriot, Rene Mayer, Henri Queuille, and Edouard Daladier, goes by the name of the Radical Socialist Party. By our standards this party would be regarded as fairly conservative, about in the center between the Communists and the De Gaullists. In Italy, the Social Movement is faithful to the memory of Mussolini.

The point is that names do not count; only ideas are descriptive of men's purposes and methods. The Europeans are as puzzled about our politics as about our social and economic systems and shy away from what they do not understand.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TONSILS AND POLIO

I write frequently about the effect that the removal of tonsils and adenoids has on patients with poliomyelitis of the bulbar (crippling) type. There still seems to be some doubt as to whether there is a definite relationship between these two conditions. The Journal of the American Medical Association gives us some more figures in this argument.

"Of 800 patients with poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), 500 had at one time or another, undergone the operation of "tonsillo-adenoidectomy" (removal of tonsils and adenoids); while 300 had not been so operated upon. Of 85 patients with the bulbar type of poliomyelitis, 73 had had their tonsils removed while only 12 cases of this same type of infection appeared in those who still had their tonsils or adenoids.

This means that those who had their tonsils out were six times as likely to have the severe form of polio!

To show us how these 800 cases were grouped as to age, we are told that between ages of 6 days and 5 years there were 122

between ages of 6 years and 10 years there were 212
between ages of 11 years and 15 years there were 168
between ages of 16 years and 20 years there were 82
between ages of 21 years and 30 years there were 145
between ages of 31 years and 40 years there were 64
between ages of 41 years and 56 years there were 7

This means that of the 800 cases, 502 were less than 15 years of age and 729 were thirty years of age or less. No wonder poliomyelitis was originally known as infantile paralysis as it seems to affect the younger age groups so strongly.

Thus we see that patients who have had their tonsils or adenoids removed appear to be more susceptible; once they do contract polio, to develop the bulbar or bulbospinal (more serious) types of the disease.

They appear to have a decreased resistance to the disease. An interesting point about this was that it did not seem to matter at what time in the past the tonsils and adenoids had been removed. These patients still were more likely to develop serious polio even if tonsils had been removed a long time in the past.

A great deal of study has been given to whether it is wise to remove tonsils during or prior to the polio season. This has yielded good results but now we must remember that even having had tonsils removed a long time in the past makes us more susceptible to polio, than those who have never had this operaton.

Yeh, Let's Be Practical for a Change

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The Eisenhower administration has definitely rejected "pump priming" as a device to relieve U. S. unemployment.

President Eisenhower indicated this course of action in his March 24 press conference statement that no "slam bang" emergency program is needed. Developments since that time have confirmed the administration belief that indirect methods of bolstering the U. S. economy are better than government relief of any kind.

What this means is that the pleas made by AFL President George Meany, CIO President Walter Reuther, Harvard Economist Sumner Slichter, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois and others for a federal government action program to relieve unemployment are going to be ignored.

The political implications of this decision are summed up in a belief that while bad employment conditions may make it possible to lose an election, good employment conditions, by themselves, can't win the coming November elections.

There is plenty of optimism in Washington for an October pick-up in business. One indication of this is found in the Federal Reserve Board action, reducing bank reserve requirements and providing more credit for the normal fall harvest and crop movement.

There is also a prevalent feeling that all the pump priming of the Roosevelt era really did no good. What pulled the country out of the depression, it is explained, was the war spending.

What the country has been going through in the past year, according to the Republican point of view, is a shift from an inflationary war economy back to more normal peacetime business.

Government spending has been cut back by $10 billion. Over $7 billion of this has been returned to the civilian economy in the form of tax cuts.

The idea of making up the difference of $3 billion by a government spending program has been rejected. It is felt that to do so would cut back private spending by that amount and so delay recovery.

It is admitted that government buying can't be stopped without causing some unemployment. The explanation is that, "We did this to ourselves," as a necessary readjustment. The problem it created is analyzed as how fast people can be put back to work on civilian goods production after cutting government defense spending.

While it is felt that the government might impede this recovery by doing the wrong thing, there is little that can be done by the government directly to speed it up. An inflationary spending program at this time is given as an example of a wrong action.

This philosophy puts entire reliance for the government's recovery program on indirect aids to the economy. Among the steps that the administration has taken in this direction are the removal of price and wage controls to free the economy for expansion, stabilization of the dollar, tax cuts and the tax reform bill passed by the House and now before the Senate.

The idea of increasing personal exemptions for federal individual income taxes, as a means of providing more money for spending and so relieving unemployment, is still flatly rejected. On the other hand, particular emphasis is placed on the advisability of reducing taxes on dividends as a stimulus to investment and business expansion. This is regarded as the best way to create new employment.

Public works that contribute to America's productive capacity are not to be frowned on, if and when there is enough money to finance them. It is the "leaf-raking" type of government aid program to relieve unemployment that is rejected.

The seriousness of unemployment to workers without jobs—now numbering over three million—seems to be fully recognized. But there appears to be no inclination on the part of administration leaders to remedy the situation by direct government spending.

There Is Good Reason, Despite Cynics, to Accept Washington Joint Statement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 1—Words, just words? Or basic principles of morality in the conduct of world affairs?

These are the two possible impressions which a cynic or an idealist, respectively, can derive from a reading of the joint statement by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill.

But there is every reason to accept the words as a new "Washington charter" and as an inspiring step along the difficult road of present-day relations between allies.

For some significant things really have been proclaimed. They can be summarized thus:

1. America and Britain hold out the hand of friendship to all nations "which by solemn pledge and confirming deeds show themselves desirous of participating in a just and fair peace." This reaffirms the American position and, by the emphasis on "deed," shows Soviet Russia the way to peace.

2. The principle of self-government is upheld and "colonialism" in its worst sense is repudiated, because Britain and America will strive only "by every peaceful means to secure the independence of all countries whose peoples desire and are capable of sustaining an independent existence." For what is the good of granting independence to nations not ready for it and which can become the prey of a Communist aggressor? That's a question America has asked before but it has never been so clearly answered as now.

3. America and Britain continue their support of the United Nations and of existing international organizations for common protection and security, and they "urge the establishment and maintenance of such associations of nations as will best, in their respective regions, preserve the peace and independence of the peoples living there." This gives renewed endorsement to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the organization of American States. It also pronounces a blessing on associations like the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization that may be created in the future.

4. America and Britain will "with our friends" develop and maintain the spiritual, economic and military strength necessary to pursue the peaceful purpose and attain the objectives enumerated in the new charter. Also every means will be sought to promote "the fuller and freer interchange among us (that is, among our allies) of goods and services which will benefit all participants."

These principles might perhaps be regrettably disregarded in the interest of national expediency some day but, having been written now explicitly and implicity in the form of an American-British agreement at the highest level, they take on a solemnity which will not make easy in the future any violation of the pledges given.

The written communique tells of high purposes and reflects an atmosphere of cordiality and understanding. There remain differences of approach and emphasis. Britain still feels inclinded to deal with Red China. But the so-called Locarno idea of a non-aggression pact is gone. American spokesmen made it clear that the United States couldn't agree to what is called the "status quo" in the world—the confirmation of existing seizures or controls by Communist imperialism or upholding the jurisdiction of colonial powers in every case.

The President and Secretary Dulles took the sound position that America isn't ready to sign any treaty obligating this country either to fight a war to alter the existing order in any country or to fight a war to preserve that status. This made a "non-aggression" pact wholly illogical, and there is evidence the British visitors in the end saw the matter the same way as do the American government officials.

Time will tell whether the renewed efforts by Britain at conciliating the Soviets will bear fruit. Meantime, it is essential that both political parties within the United States be united on foreign policy. It is unfortunate that the Democratic leaders, who themselves engaged in a merciless attack on Secretary Dulles when he first came back from Geneva, now should complain when Vice President Nixon answers them in kind.

A glance back at the newspaper clippings will reveal that Messrs. It is not surprising that Vice President Nixon last Saturday in a political address pointed out that the troubles accumulated under the Democratic administration, starting with its withdrawal of moral support from Nationalist China at a critical moment which led to the loss of China and the ultimate building of Red China as the aggressor in Indochina.

But, now that the partisans on each side have had their say, it is time to call quits and really make a sincere effort to carry on a bipartisan foreign policy.

It all makes exciting mental food for the contrarian, in any event.

Three Loads Arrive

Sampson Air Force Base, July 1 (AP)—Three plane loads of Connecticut youths, 227 strong, flew into this USAF indoctrination center Wednesday and became the largest group of trainees ever stationed here at one time from a single recruiting center. Two C54 Skymasters and a C118 Liftmaster were needed to bring the recruits in from Hartford. They will receive an 11-week indoctrination course, then move to various air training command schools for special training.

Protective Measure

When a dog lies down, even in a room, he turns around a few times. This habit dates back to the days when a dog made himself a bed in tall grass. The dog turned around so that he could lie on a bed of trampled grass and be protected by tall grass growing around him.

The griffin, in Greek mythology, was a creature with the head and wings of an eagle and the body of a lion.

Motorists Must Heed Gear Signs

Albany, July 1 (AP)—It will be a violation of the law in New York State starting today for motorists to ignore those "use lower gear" signs at the top of steep highway grades.

The State Traffic Commission announced yesterday that it had amended its regulations to require obedience under penalty of law to two new highway signs.

They read: "Trucks must use lower gear" and "All vehicles must use lower gear."

"Low gear" signs previously had been employed merely as warnings to motorists. The 1954 Legislature, however, authorized the Traffic Commission to make failure to obey them a violation of the traffic code.

The penalties are: First offense, a fine of not more than $10; second offense, fine of not less than $10 or more than $25, or two to 15 days in jail; third offense or subsequent ones within a year, fine up to $100 or up to six months in jail, or both.

Control Is Factor

James R. Macduff, state motor vehicle commissioner, said the signs applying specifically to trucks would be used "only when a probability exists that trucks may go out of control in descending a grade unless lower gears are used.

The signs requiring all vehicles to use lower gears, Macduff continued, would be confined to "only the most unusual conditions," where a hill presents a safety problem for passenger cars as well as trucks.

Drivers of vehicles equipped with automatic transmissions would be required to shift to the lower gear ratio of the two driving ranges furnished on all standard makes of such transmissions.

Whirlaway won the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont Stakes and the Preakness (turfdom's famed triple crown) in 1941.

State Police Plan Check on Motorists

Albany, July 1 (AP) — The state police say they're going to make an all-out effort to cut down traffic accidents during the three-day Fourth of July weekend.

Albin S. Johnson, superintendent, announced last night that every available trooper would be assigned highway duty during the holiday period. They will be instructed, he said, to "rid the highway of the careless operator and deliberate violator who thinks only of himself."

Johnson, urging motorists to drive carefully, pointed out that 24 persons were killed in 20 accidents in state rural areas over the two-day Fourth of July holiday last year.

CIO Breaks Hold Of Electric Union

Schenectady, July 1 (AP)—The CIO has broken the 18-year hold of the Independent United Electrical Workers Union on the General Electric Co.'s main plant.

The CIO'S International Union of Electrical Workers last night was declared winner of a National Labor Relations Board election to decide which of the two rival unions should act as bargaining agent for nearly 20,000 plant workers.

An NLRB examiner announced after day-long voting at the plant that 9,005 of the workers had voted for IUE and 5,179 for the UE. There were 267 votes for no union.

Climaxes Struggle

The election, which went off without incident, climaxed a struggle dating back to 1949, when the UE was expelled from the CIO on the ground it was Communist dominated. The CIO later organized the rival IUE.

The UE had been in virtually uncontested control of the big Schenectady plant work force since 1936.

The CIO had banked heavily on the Schenectady elections in its systematic invasion of UE-controlled plants. The IUE is challenging its arch rival for the bargaining rights of 13,000 more workers at seven other GE installations.

The other plants are at Elmira; Scranton and Erie, Pa.; Newark and Bloomfield, N. J.; Cincinnati and Long Island City.

Two Passengers Injured

New York, July 1 (AP) — Two passengers were injured slightly today when an engine of a four-engine National Airlines plane shook loose as the craft landed at Idlewild Airport and tipped over on its nose at the end of its landing run. A crew member of the DC-6 quickly put out a minor fire in the damaged nose wheel assembly. The 48 passengers were removed by ladder from the plane, which carries a crew of four. The injured passengers, who refused medical aid, were identified as Lucian F. Thomas, 43, of Fort Myers, Fla., and Lucille Serville, 29, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Wife Gets Inheritance

New York, July 1 (AP)—The wife of convicted tax dodger Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., has inherited the interest on one-third of a $500,000 estate of a cousin. The will of the cousin, Mrs. Mable G. Foley, was disclosed in Surrogate's Court yesterday. Mrs. Foley died June 21. Nunan, who served as commissioner of internal revenue from 1944 to 1947, has been found guilty of evading payment of $91,086 in income taxes for a five-year period. During the trial, he claimed the money on which he failed to pay taxes was an inheritance of his wife, Catherine. He faces up to 25 years in prison and a $50,000 fine.

Not One Ran Away

Dothan, Ala., July 1 (AP)—"There ain't a man who would run away from Mr. Ellison," a sorrowing convict told hospital attendants at nearby Abbeville. And not a prisoner left when Otto Towns Ellison, 65-year-old guard, died of a heart attack on a lonely road near here Tuesday. When the 20 convicts Ellison had been guarding brought his body to the Abbeville Hospital, the guard's revolver was still strapped to his side. Ellison was working the convicts on a road project when the heart attack struck.

Three Go to Hospital

New York, July 1 (AP)—A woman and two firemen were hospitalized and two other firemen were treated at the scene as a three-alarm fire of undetermined origin swept an apartment of a five-story tenement in the Bronx early today. Three patrolmen led a number of tenants, including seven children, to safety and rescued Mrs. Clara Davis, 34, from the burning top floor apartment. The blaze in the 20-family building at 764 East 168th street was brought under control at 1:20 a. m. Three rooms of a five-room apartment top floor were gutted before the fire was controlled.

WEEKLY FOOD REVIEW

(By The Associated Press)

(N.Y.) The cost of a home-cooked holiday dinner this Fourth of July will be considerably lower than it was a year ago.

Frying chickens are down 9 cents a pound on the average from the levels of July 1 last year. Other holiday favorites—turkey, sirloin of beef, smoked picnic hams—are off substantially. Egg prices—some 20 cents a dozen lower than a year ago—are at their lowest levels since 1940.

Also available for a July 4th dinner or picnic spread are a bigger-than-usual variety of vegetables, berries and fruits—many of them at bargain-basement prices.

Fruits More Abundant

Raspberries, currants, gooseberries, blueberries, dates, plums, cherries, nectarines, apricots and figs are reported increasingly abundant this week. Peaches—not only from such traditional growing areas as Georgia and Southern California but also from orchards many miles farther north—are more plentiful, and lower in cost, than they've been at any time this year. Watermelon, a mainstay of the picnic feast, is listed as one of the week's best produce buys by market specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Bountiful supplies of nearby berries and fruits have a tendency in many areas to depress prices of rarer produce items grown many hundred of miles away. This is particularly noticeable in lower prices this week for Pacific coast eating apples (mostly of the "Delicious" and Winesap varities) in food markets along the Atlantic seaboard and the middle west.

Outstanding Buys

Named as outstanding vegetable buys of the week are cabbage, lettuce and beets, followed closely by tomatoes, onions, potatoes and beans. Corn, Department of Agriculture officials say, is in plentiful supply but much of it is not of top-grade quality.

Price of pork chops had a slight tendency to rise in many areas this week. Price trends otherwise showed little change from the previous week, except in the case of the more heavily promoted holiday week-end "specials." These included frying chickens, roast turkeys, skinless frankfurters, smoked hams, sirloin of beef and leg of lamb. Many stores are offering them at substantial reductions.

Butter consumption has risen perceptibly since the government reduced the level of its price supports for the yellow spread. According to the Department of Agriculture, American households stepped up their butter purchases by seven per cent during April—the first month of reduced price supports. Retail prices averaged 66.6 cents a pound—or about 9.4 cents less than in the November-January period when the government was supporting dairy prices at 90 per cent of parity. The present support level is 75 per cent. Increased use of butter, the department says, was accompanied by a 3 per cent drop in margarine consumption. Average price of margarine in April was 26.2 cents a pound.

WEEKLY FOOD REVIEW

(By The Associated Press)

(N.Y.) The cost of a home-cooked holiday dinner this Fourth of July will be considerably lower than it was a year ago.

Frying chickens are down 9 cents a pound on the average from the levels of July 1 last year. Other holiday favorites—turkey, sirloin of beef, smoked picnic hams—are off substantially. Egg prices—some 20 cents a dozen lower than a year ago—are at their lowest levels since 1940.

Also available for a July 4th dinner or picnic spread are a bigger-than-usual variety of vegetables, berries and fruits—many of them at bargain-basement prices.

Fruits More Abundant

Raspberries, currants, gooseberries, blueberries, dates, plums, cherries, nectarines, apricots and figs are reported increasingly abundant this week. Peaches—not only from such traditional growing areas as Georgia and Southern California but also from orchards many miles farther north—are more plentiful, and lower in cost, than they've been at any time this year. Watermelon, a mainstay of the picnic feast, is listed as one of the week's best produce buys by market specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Bountiful supplies of nearby berries and fruits have a tendency in many areas to depress prices of rarer produce items grown many hundred of miles away. This is particularly noticeable in lower prices this week for Pacific coast eating apples (mostly of the "Delicious" and Winesap varities) in food markets along the Atlantic seaboard and the middle west.

Outstanding Buys

Named as outstanding vegetable buys of the week are cabbage, lettuce and beets, followed closely by tomatoes, onions, potatoes and beans. Corn, Department of Agriculture officials say, is in plentiful supply but much of it is not of top-grade quality.

Price of pork chops had a slight tendency to rise in many areas this week. Price trends otherwise showed little change from the previous week, except in the case of the more heavily promoted holiday week-end "specials." These included frying chickens, roast turkeys, skinless frankfurters, smoked hams, sirloin of beef and leg of lamb. Many stores are offering them at substantial reductions.

Butter consumption has risen perceptibly since the government reduced the level of its price supports for the yellow spread. According to the Department of Agriculture, American households stepped up their butter purchases by seven per cent during April—the first month of reduced price supports. Retail prices averaged 66.6 cents a pound—or about 9.4 cents less than in the November-January period when the government was supporting dairy prices at 90 per cent of parity. The present support level is 75 per cent. Increased use of butter, the department says, was accompanied by a 3 per cent drop in margarine consumption. Average price of margarine in April was 26.2 cents a pound.

Banks Is Elected New Head of Lions Club

Saugerties, July 1—Myron G. Banks was elected president of the Saugerties Lions Club at the regular meeting at the Flamingo Restaurant Monday night.

Banks succeeds Glenford I. Teetsell.

Others designated were Robert S. Russell, first vice-president; Albert Y. Giannotti second vice-president; Ernest A. Schirmer, third vice-president; Kenneth Beadle, secretary-treasurer; Austin Simmons, tailtwister; Denis J. Wynne, Lion tamer; and Raymond J. Mooney, director.

A slate of candidates was presented to the group by Dr. Rodney Ball, chairman of the nominating committee and all were elected unanimously.

Upon retiring from the chair, Teetsel commented on the excellent attendance record and also commended Frank and Eileen Costello, proprietors of the Flamingo Restaurant for their tireless efforts in making the meetings a success.

There will be no meeting of the Lions next Monday due to the holiday.

Parade to Feature July 4 Celebration

The program for the July 4 celebration Monday, July 5, was announced by the joint sponsors of the event, the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce and the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW.

The morning program will feature a parade of floats, vehicles, and marching delegations. The parade will form on Barclay Heights at 10 a. m. and will commence at 10:30 a. m.

Due to the efforts of both organizations it was possible this year to increase the size of the prize monies for the winning floats. First prize is $100; second prize, $50; and third prize, $25. The judges will be non-members of the sponsoring organizations and will remain anonymous both prior and following the parade. This was decided upon in order to achieve the full degree of impartial judging.

A brief program at the high school grounds will follow the parade. It will consist of the pledge of allegiance to the flag, followed by the playing of the National Anthem and the announcement of the prize-winning floats.

Two baseball games are scheduled, one at 2 p. m. between the Saugerties Baseball Club and Oneonta at Cantine Memorial Field and a twilight Little League game at 6:15 p. m. at the Little League field.

Block Party Slated

The highlight of the evening program will be the block party to be held in the parking area at the rear of Municipal Building. In the event of rain the dance will be held inside the auditorium. Music for dancing will be supplied by a group of young people being organized by Larry Cahill.

Donald G. Rice, chairman of the observance committee issued a final plea today for all those who intend participating in the parade to return their entries to Mrs. John J. Wood Sr., Market street.

Chairman Rice said, "the ultimate success of any program after all preparations lies in the support that it receives from the participating units and the final, but the most important person of all, the citizens and visitors of the community."

"Their presence," continued Rice, "at the various affairs acclaim the success or failure of such an undertaking."

HERE'S WHY A&P'S FINE COFFEES ARE NOW ALL PRICED THE SAME!

The biggest factor in determining the price you pay for coffee is the green coffee cost. Conditions in South American coffee producing countries determine these costs.

Normally, one type of coffee used in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar cost 2¢ to 4¢ a pound less than the other types used in these blends. We have reflected this difference in the retail prices of these blends.

TODAY THE COST OF THE COFFEES IN THESE BLENDS IS ABOUT THE SAME. THAT IS THE ONLY REASON WHY, TEMPORARILY, WE ARE FORCED TO SELL ALL THREE BLENDS AT THE SAME PRICE.

These three superb blends have always been of the same high quality—they each have a distinctive flavor characteristic. There has been no change in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar. To get the finest, freshest flavor for your money, buy one of these magnificent blends. Remember, they still cost less than 3¢ a cup!

HERE'S WHY A&P'S FINE COFFEES ARE NOW ALL PRICED THE SAME!
The biggest factor in determining the price you pay for coffee is the green coffee cost. Conditions in South American coffee producing countries determine these costs.
Normally, one type of coffee used in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar cost 2¢ to 4¢ a pound less than the other types used in these blends. We have reflected this difference in the retail prices of these blends.
TODAY THE COST OF THE COFFEES IN THESE BLENDS IS ABOUT THE SAME. THAT IS THE ONLY REASON WHY, TEMPORARILY, WE ARE FORCED TO SELL ALL THREE BLENDS AT THE SAME PRICE.
These three superb blends have always been of the same high quality—they each have a distinctive flavor characteristic. There has been no change in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar. To get the finest, freshest flavor for your money, buy one of these magnificent blends. Remember, they still cost less than 3¢ a cup!

NO CHANGE IN QUALITY, FLAVOR OR BLEND OF A&P'S 3 FAMOUS COFFEES!

Meal of Noodles and Tuna Is Delicious and Easy to Make

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When the mother of four young children, who is also an active church worker, says she has some quick-to-prepare recipes her family enjoys, we want to hear about them.

Mrs. Marcella O'Neill, of Osceola Mills, Pennsylvania, is that good cook and mother and here are her recipes:

Noodle and Tuna Patty Casserole
(Makes 6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups), 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 1/3 cups milk, 1/3 cup dill pickle liquid, 1/3 cup chili sauce, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup chopped dill pickles, 2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, drained, 2 eggs, beaten, ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon minced onion, salt to taste.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender.

Drain in colander. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Melt butter or margarine and blend in flour; gradually add milk and cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly.

Add pickle liquid, chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt and dill pickles; mix well and pour over noodles. Break tuna into pieces with a fork; add eggs, bread crumbs, minced onion and salt to taste.

Mix well and shape into 6 patties; place on top of noodles. Garnish patties with cheese rounds, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Tuna Macaroni Beet Salad
(Makes 6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces elbow macaroni (2 cups), 1 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna, drained, 1 cup chopped cooked beets, ½ cup chopped onions, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 egg, well beaten, ¼ cup vinegar, 1 cup sour cream.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water and drain again. Chill.

Break tuna into pieces with a fork. Combine cooked macaroni, tuna, beets, onions and cabbage; mix well. Chill.

Combine sugar, mustard, salt and flour; add beaten egg and vinegar and mix well. Add sour cream and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool.

Add to macaroni mixture and mix lightly but thoroughly. Chill until serving time.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Noodle and tuna patty casserole, parsley boiled potatoes, broiled tomato halves, crisp rolls, butter or margarine, blueberry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

No Night Hail

Hail seldom falls at night, for the same reason that it seldom falls in cool weather. The earth, being cooler at night, does not then furnish enough rising air currents to force raindrops to a sufficient height to freeze them.

MAKING ONESELF AT HOME

A wife writes: "Recently, friends of my family invited my husband and me to be weekend guests at their lovely country house. Upon our arrival we were told to "make yourselves at home" and my husband proceeded to do just that. Whenever he felt hungry, he went to the refrigerator and helped himself to a glass of milk, or made himself a sandwich of whatever happened to be around. When alone I remonstrated him for this and said it was no way to act in someone else's house. He said he was only making himself at home as he had been told to do. Should such a statement be taken literally, and does a guest have the privilege of rummaging through the icebox?"

Very definitely not! A guest is not free to forage in the ice box or take any other similar liberties. Making yourself at home means that you are not to feel strange or awkward. Nevertheless you must adapt yourself to the ways of the family with whom you are staying.

Who Carries Umbrella?

Dear Mrs. Post: The other night my husband and I were going out to a movie and as it looked very much like rain I took an umbrella along. This brought up the question as to who should carry it. I thought my husband should, but he refused, saying it was not his place to carry the umbrella, and that if I didn't believe him I should ask Emily Post, so I am doing just that.

Answer: It depends on the umbrella. If it is a big, plain umbrella then he should carry it, but if it is your own definitely feminine umbrella then you should carry it.

A Bit of Food

Dear Mrs. Post: When dining out, and a bit of food falls off the plate on to the dining table, should it be left there, or picked up and put back on the plate?

Answer: It should be picked up with whatever implement you are using and put back on the plate.

A "housewarming" or "open house" can be a tea, a cocktail party, a buffet supper, or the simplest afternoon or evening at home. Mrs. Post gives suggestions in leaflet E-28. 'Aries Leaves Today In Preparation for Return to England

The British craft Aries, a converted lifeboat, on its way to establish an ocean record for small craft and test navy equipment, left here shortly after 9 a. m. today for New York city from where it is scheduled to leave for England in a few days.

This city was the final American destination of the Aries which left Kingston-Upon-Thames, England, May 22, for its historic sail. Rough weather forced it to stop at The Azores and Bermuda, and delayed its arrival here by a week or 10 days.

After arriving here at about 5 p. m. Tuesday, C. Harcourt-Smith, its commander, and four-man crew, were presented with keys to the city, given an official welcome Wednesday in the city hall, were guests of the Rotary Club, visited the Senate House and toured the county's resort area.

Has Letter for Mayor

The commander brought with him from Mayor Geoffrey R. Lines, of Kingston, England, the following letter to Mayor Frederick H. Stang:

"I am taking advantage of the opportunity offered by this voyage of 'Aries' to convey most sincere greetings from this Royal and Ancient Borough to your Municipality.

"In spite of the distance between us there may have been many occasions in the past when the ties of friendship between us have been strengthened by little personal exchanges, and I am happy to think that this occasion has been made possible by the skill and enterprise of four of our people, in whom the love of the sea has foreever been considered to be a prominent feature.

Interest Appreciated

"Your interest in this voyage has been greatly appreciated in our town and it is indeed a cheering thought for our colleagues in the ship to know that they are going forward from this old country to the New World with the good wishes of both extended to them."

The Aries is taking back from this city a special plaque presented Wednesday in the city hall. Mayor Stang will answer Mayor Lines' letter by air mail.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness during the illness and death of my beloved husband, William E. Henninger, and for the beautiful floral tributes. To the bearers, all members of Company M, I desire to express my sincere thanks. Signed,

WIFE.

Four Teen-Agers Seized by Police

Four teen-agers who, police said, were caught as they ran from behind Minasian's Market, 86 North Front street, were arrested by Officer Charles McCullough early this morning.

All were charged with disorderly conduct and one of them, Richard Rollock, 17, of Wittenberg road, Bearsville, was booked for allegedly driving illegally with a junior operator's license, and for having no proof of insurance or financial responsibility. They pleaded guilty in city court later today.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today imposed a sentence of a $10 fine or 10 days in jail on the junior license charge and postponed sentence on the others until tomorrow. The fine was not immediately paid.

The others arrested on disorderly conduct charges were James S. Miller, 16, of Shandaken; and Joseph Stoffa, 17, and Raymond Langdon, 16, both of Oceanside, L. I. The judge also postponed sentence on them until Friday.

Officer McCullough called for a police car at 4:40 a. m., and Officers Francis Buchanan and Gerard McCloskey responded to bring the boys to headquarters. Authorities were due to question them today. Peter Dicklich, 44, of 608 Monroe Place, West New York, N. J., who has a police record here and in New Jersey, was picked up here early today after he had allegedly assaulted a probation officer in New Jersey.

Local police were notified at 11:35 p. m., yesterday by West New York police that he was wanted on charges of atrocious assault and battery and for violation of parole, and it was believed he was hitch-hiking for Kingston after escaping authorities there.

Officer Francis Buchanan and Special Gerard McCloskey apprehended Dicklich on Broadway near Elmendorf street early this morning and he was booked at 4:42 a. m. on the charges, on the basis of information in the teletype message.

Move for Extradition

Lt. William Leonard said he had been informed that the assault charge dealt with an alleged assault on a probation officer, and it was expected that Dichlich would not waive extradition. New Jersey authorities were moving today to extradite him, Leonard said.

Dicklich's record here shows an arrest in December, 1949 on a disorderly conduct charge, one for third degree assault in February, 1952 and another for second degree forgery in April, 1953. His record in New Jersey includes arrests on a disorderly person charge, desertion and non-support, and violation of probation.

Mrs. Mary Quigley, 70, of 64 Brook street, Tompkinsville, Staten Island, died of a heart condition in the back seat of her niece's automobile en route from Phoenicia to Bearsville on Route 28 Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Quigley was riding in an automobile driven by her niece, Mrs. Mary Morrison of 208 Victory Boulevard, Tompkinsville, and they were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Donovan of 78 Gregg Place, New Brighton, Staten Island, according to a sheriff's office report.

The three women had reached West Hurley when Mrs. Morrison noticed her aunt appeared to be resting uncomfortably in the rear seat, she later told Coroner McCardle. They stopped at the home of Clarence J. Ostrander at West Hurley to summon aid.

When it became known that Mrs. Quigley was dead, the sheriff's office and the coroner were summoned. Jailor Wesley O'Brien and Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg investigated.

Progress Is Noted On Filling Stations

Work on two modern gasoline distribution stations being erected by the Atlantic Refining Company in the uptown section of Kingston is progressing rapidly.

Two residences on Broadway at the corner of Liberty street, formerly owned by Ira Britt, have been demolished and a gas station will be erected. The second site is at the corner of Albany avenue and Roosevelt avenue where a residence property is also being demolished and the property cleared for a station.

Permits Granted

Permits for erection of stations at the two sites have been granted by the city following filing of plans at the city engineer's office.

The stations will be leased or operated by the Atlantic Refining Company. In Kingston Atlantic products are distributed by the Newcomb Oil Company which maintains a bulk storage plant at Kingston Point. In addition to the bulk plant the Newcomb company also owns and operated retail stations in this area, it was stated by a spokesman for the company.

Aries Leaves Today In Preparation for Return to England

The British craft Aries, a converted lifeboat, on its way to establish an ocean record for small craft and test navy equipment, left here shortly after 9 a. m. today for New York city from where it is scheduled to leave for England in a few days.

This city was the final American destination of the Aries which left Kingston-Upon-Thames, England, May 22, for its historic sail. Rough weather forced it to stop at The Azores and Bermuda, and delayed its arrival here by a week or 10 days.

After arriving here at about 5 p. m. Tuesday, C. Harcourt-Smith, its commander, and four-man crew, were presented with keys to the city, given an official welcome Wednesday in the city hall, were guests of the Rotary Club, visited the Senate House and toured the county's resort area.

Has Letter for Mayor

The commander brought with him from Mayor Geoffrey R. Lines, of Kingston, England, the following letter to Mayor Frederick H. Stang:

"I am taking advantage of the opportunity offered by this voyage of 'Aries' to convey most sincere greetings from this Royal and Ancient Borough to your Municipality.

"In spite of the distance between us there may have been many occasions in the past when the ties of friendship between us have been strengthened by little personal exchanges, and I am happy to think that this occasion has been made possible by the skill and enterprise of four of our people, in whom the love of the sea has foreever been considered to be a prominent feature.

Interest Appreciated

"Your interest in this voyage has been greatly appreciated in our town and it is indeed a cheering thought for our colleagues in the ship to know that they are going forward from this old country to the New World with the good wishes of both extended to them."

The Aries is taking back from this city a special plaque presented Wednesday in the city hall. Mayor Stang will answer Mayor Lines' letter by air mail.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness during the illness and death of my beloved husband, William E. Henninger, and for the beautiful floral tributes. To the bearers, all members of Company M, I desire to express my sincere thanks. Signed, WIFE. (adv.)

All were charged with disorderly conduct and one of them, Richard Rollock, 17, of Wittenberg road, Bearsville, was booked for allegedly driving illegally with a junior operator's license, and for having no proof of insurance or financial responsibility. They pleaded guilty in city court later today.

JULY 4th TRAFFIC NOTE:
The heavy stop-and-go traffic on highways this week end makes "Detergent-Action" Calso Gasolines vitally important to good motoring. Here's why:

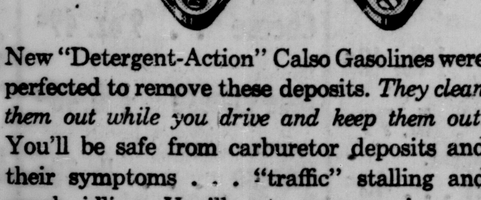

This is the heart of your car

In heavy traffic your car's carburetor breathes in dust, soot, oil-laden vapors and exhaust from other cars. It builds up a ring of gummy deposits that choke off its air supply. Your engine dies at stop signs, idles roughly.

Annoying? Yes, and even more annoying are the repair bills for carburetor adjustments or "boil-out" jobs that temporarily help the situation.

"DETERGENT ACTION" DOES A REPAIR JOB ON YOUR CARBURETOR, STARTING WITH THE FIRST TANKFUL

New "Detergent-Action" Calso Gasolines were perfected to remove these deposits. They clean them out while you drive and keep them out. You'll be safe from carburetor deposits and their symptoms . . . "traffic" stalling and rough idling. You'll get money-saving gas mileage . . . enjoy all-round new-car performance. Start the week end with "Detergent-Action" Calso—you'll never go back to old-fashioned gasolines!

Botanical Groups Study Nature in Minnewaska Area

The John Burroughs Natural History Society joined the Eastern New York Botanical Club in a field study trip on the rugged terrain of the Minnewaska region on Saturday, June 26. Daniel Smiley, Jr., led the group which studied the flora of the district.

Dr. Eugene Ogden, state botanist, collected lichens and fungi; Dr. Robert Pyle, of New Paltz, captured in his net minute aquatic organisms to which he applied the term, plancton; Smiley, George Cooley and Henry Dunbar filled vasculums with various wonders of the plant world destined to appear later neatly mounted and labeled in their respective herbarea.

In general, due to the local rock being all quartz conglomerate, plants characteristic of acid soil predominated. In the Heath family alone the group found the following: (1) huge masses of white or pink mountain laurel bordering the driveways, (2) smaller masses of deep pink sheep laurel, (3) in the sphagnum bogs the shy pale laurel, now long past blooming, and (4) shady ravines and swamp borders held nearly impenetrable thickets of great laurel or rhododendron.

Many Plants Found

Scattered with frequency over the whole wooded area was pinkster, one plant of which still bloomed in the bog. Confined to the bog were a few bushes of white swamp azalea, just coming into bloom, and much rhodora, long past. High bush in the swamps and two species of low bush blueberries on the hill tops with huckleberries everywhere abundant. Other members of this family present were the large cranberry, creeping snowberry, wintergreen, cassandra (chamaedaphne) and arbutus.

In the sphagnum bog of the Palmaghatt grew round-leaved sundew and pitcher plant in abundance and here and there areas were dotted with the orchid rose pogonia just coming into its prime. Some crevasses in the rocky cliffs seemed stuffed with tufts of the mountain spleenwort. Two ferns of special interest in the swamp were the Virginia chain fern and the Massachusetts fern.

Members Present

Members present were Daniel Smiley, Jr., Priscilla Smiley, Mrs. Samuel Hayes, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Pyle, Dr. and Mrs. Heinz Meng, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar and Rodney Lethbridge. Members of the Botany Club attending were Dr. Eugene Ogden, Dr. Eugene Barker, Alvin Whitney, Dr. Gertrude Douglas, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Glasgow, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooley. Guests were Jackson Davis, Jonathan Pyle and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Hammond.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's a Gamble Worth Trying

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you reached a grand slam contract on today's hand, you would have reason to congratulate yourself for good bidding. The odds are 9 to 1 against a 4-0 break in trumps, and the grand slam is therefore a very fine gamble.

It is possible to make the grand slam even against a bad trump break, but it calls for the most exact technique in the play of the cards. See if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

You must naturally win the first trick with the ace of clubs. Next you cash the ace of spades in the first step of your campaign to guard against a bad trump break.

You must begin the trumps by leading to dummy's ace. If West happens to have all your trumps, you can do nothing about it. If East has all four trumps, you must save both of your high trumps to draw trumps without loss. West discards a club on the first round of trumps and the situation is therefore exposed.

Your next step is to lead the queen of spades from dummy,

	NORTH 1 ♠ Q J 7 3 2 ♥ A 6 5 3 ♦ A 9 ♣ 8 4
WEST ♠ 9 8 5 4 ♥ None ♦ 6 5 4 2 ♣ K Q J 7 2		EAST ♠ K 10 6 ♥ J 10 8 4 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 10 9 5 3
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A ♥ K Q 9 7 2 ♦ K Q J 10 7 ♣ A 6

North-South vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 N.T.	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
7 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ K

and East covers with the king. You gladly ruff, since you were not quite sure whether to try to discard your losing club on a good spade in dummy or whether to try to discard dummy's losing club on one of your good diamonds.

Having established dummy's jack of spades, you return to dummy with the nine of diamonds in order to cash the jack of spades and discard your losing club. You can then lead a heart through East.

East puts up the ten of hearts, and you win with the queen. You next lead a diamond to dummy's ace and lead another trump back through East. This permits you to draw the rest of the trumps without loss and claim the balance of the tricks.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's a Gamble Worth Trying

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you reached a grand slam contract on today's hand, you would have reason to congratulate yourself for good bidding. The odds are 9 to 1 against a 4-0 break in trumps, and the grand slam is therefore a very fine gamble.

It is possible to make the grand slam even against a bad trump break, but it calls for the most exact technique in the play of the cards. See if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

You must naturally win the first trick with the ace of clubs. Next you cash the ace of spades in the first step of your campaign to guard against a bad trump break.

You must begin the trumps by leading to dummy's ace. If West happens to have all your trumps, you can do nothing about it. If East has all four trumps, you must save both of your high trumps to draw trumps without loss. West discards a club on the first round of trumps and the situation is therefore exposed.

Your next step is to lead the queen of spades from dummy,

	NORTH 1 ♠ Q J 7 3 2 ♥ A 6 5 3 ♦ A 9 ♣ 8 4
WEST ♠ 9 8 5 4 ♥ None ♦ 6 5 4 2 ♣ K Q J 7 2		EAST ♠ K 10 6 ♥ J 10 8 4 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 10 9 5 3
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A ♥ K Q 9 7 2 ♦ K Q J 10 7 ♣ A 6

North-South vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 N.T.	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
7 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ K

and East covers with the king. You gladly ruff, since you were not quite sure whether to try to discard your losing club on a good spade in dummy or whether to try to discard dummy's losing club on one of your good diamonds.

Having established dummy's jack of spades, you return to dummy with the nine of diamonds in order to cash the jack of spades and discard your losing club. You can then lead a heart through East.

East puts up the ten of hearts, and you win with the queen. You next lead a diamond to dummy's ace and lead another trump back through East. This permits you to draw the rest of the trumps without loss and claim the balance of the tricks.

Cantine is Confident About Annexing Bearsville School

Robert L. Cantine, Ohayo Mountain road, Woodstock, proponent of annexing the Bearsville School to Onteora, today replies to a recent letter opposing the proposal, and says he is confident of a vote in favor of annexation on July 3.

In his letter to The Freeman Cantine noted that last Friday "there appeared in your paper an article by a group of persons opposing the annexation of the Bearsville School to Onteora."

The four persons, he said, state their only interest "was in the pupils and the taxpayers of the district, and concluded that retaining the out-dated, one-room school was the best solution."

It seems strange, he argued, "that they have come to this conclusion, when the three of the group having children, have never considered the Bearsville School adequate for their own use."

In Error, He Says

They also claim, he charged, "that the commissioner of education and the district superintendent are trying to 'push this thing through.' They are in error. These two men are only acting on the petition signed by 217 voters requesting annexation to Onteora. The school problem has been an issue in Bearsville for the past five years, so if they have not had enough time to think about it by now, they never will have."

This group ends, he said, "by asking 13 questions designed to sow seeds of doubt in the minds of the voters in the district. Space will not permit me to answer each of these questions thoroughly, as I would like, so I will concentrate on the ones I consider misleading."

First, he said, "they hint that the Bearsville school is closed, or closing. The Bearsville school will definitely be open next year. If annexation takes place, the school will become part of the centralized system, and can only be closed by a separate vote of the voters in the Bearsville district."

Stresses Pupil Welfare

On the question of taxes, he argued, "it would seem that this question is of much more concern to this opposing group than the welfare of the pupils. The taxes in Bearsville will rise, if we join Onteora, to the same rate as the other Woodstock districts, which are now included in centralization. It is only possible to keep sub-normal taxes by maintaining a sub-standard school."

It is also safe to assume, he said, "that New York city is attempting to have its taxes reduced. All of us, whether as individuals, corporations, or municipalities, are working toward that end, but, the chance of attaining that end are remote indeed."

The traveling to Onteora for school meetings is another question involved, he noted. This, he said, "should be of little interest to that group, since they now send their children to a school where they have no vote at the meetings.

The 10th question, he said, asks if Onteora will pay tuition to Kingston for the children now attending high school there. "The correct answer is, 'yes.'"

Not Crowded, He Stresses

He noted that the last question said the Onteora school was overcrowded. This, he held, is untrue, "and a trip to Onteora would prove that it is not. It is unfortunate that this group, which is so interested in school problems, cannot afford the time to inspect the Onteora school, but it is apparent from their statement, that they have not."

They also state, he said, "that Onteora is working 'to get us in,' which is also untrue. We, in the Bearsville school district, are working to get into Onteora. I feel confident that, after the votes are counted on July 3rd, the majority of the people in the district will have shown that they feel this is the best solution to our school problem, and, that the many in the district, who have worked toward that end, will see that end accomplished."

With the letter was a statement by Reginald R. Bennett, superintendent of the fourth supervisory district which said:

"When a district is annexed to a central district, the local school is operated by the central district until the voters in the local school district vote to close the local school. The central district has no power to close the local school that has been annexed."

61 Applications Are Made for Joining Commerce Group

A marked increase in Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce memberships was reported by the membership committee today. To date 61 new membership applications have been received.

The Chamber membership committee, of which John H. Haulenbeek is chairman, believes that the increased support is stimulated by increased activities and the announced publication of a printed classified membership directory.

To Publish Directory

Recently the board of directors decided to publish the directory upon recommendation of the membership committee. The board believes it will be helpful to members and be of assistance in answering many of the thousands of requests received at the Chamber office. It is planned to have the directory ready about August 1. It will be sent to all members and given to all new residents.

All listings must be in the hands of the printer by July 10 to be included in the directory. The committee invites anyone who cares to be listed to contact any member of the committee or contact the Chamber office.

The active membership is now 481. The committee anticipates that the budget goal of 500 will be reached in the near future.

A few hours after he met with Casey and Munro, Dulles went on nationwide radio and television networks to make a statement on the Guatemalan situation, which the Voice of America also broadcast over the world.

He said this "intrusion of Soviet despotism was, of course, a direct challenge to our Monroe Doctrine—the first and most fundamental of our foreign policies." (The doctrine laid down by President Monroe in 1823 bars any extension of foreign power in the western hemisphere).

"We can be grateful," Dulles said, "that there were loyal citizens of Guatemala who, in the face of terrorism and violence and against what seemed insuperable odds, had the courage and the will to eliminate the traitorous tools of foreign despots."

Church Takes No Stand

The Catholic Church has taken no official stand on the incident. It was learned this morning from the office of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PRVF, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, that the church in all such cases offers "no comment" on similar reports during any investigation, if such an investigation is conducted. It was not stated whether any investigation has been started in this case.

House Damaged On Henry Street

A fire which started from a defect in an oil burning unit damaged the cellar of a house owned by Mary Brown of Albany and occupied by Carl Mehm, Sr., at 54 Henry street this morning.

Firemen were called at 7:18 a. m., and reported that a regulator on an oil feeding unit of a pot stove was out of adjustment causing an excessive flow of oil which ignited, later reaching and bursting a glass oil reservoir.

The fire, which damaged timbers and floor boards, was confined to the cellar, but caused smoke in the house.

A call at 7:57 p. m., yesterday was for a fire in a sedan of Roosa's Taxi Service at St. James street and Broadway. It was caused by a short circuit in wiring under the hood and caused only slight damage, firemen said.

It is also safe to assume, he said, "that New York city is attempting to have its taxes reduced. All of us, whether as individuals, corporations, or municipalities, are working toward that end, but, the chance of attaining that end are remote indeed."

The traveling to Onteora for school meetings is another question involved, he noted. This, he said, "should be of little interest to that group, since they now send their children to a school where they have no vote at the meetings.

The 10th question, he said, asks if Onteora will pay tuition to Kingston for the children now attending high school there. "The correct answer is, 'yes.'"

Not Crowded, He Stresses

He noted that the last question said the Onteora school was overcrowded. This, he held, is untrue, "and a trip to Onteora would prove that it is not. It is unfortunate that this group, which is so interested in school problems, cannot afford the time to inspect the Onteora school, but it is apparent from their statement, that they have not."

They also state, he said, "that Onteora is working 'to get us in,' which is also untrue. We, in the Bearsville school district, are working to get into Onteora. I feel confident that, after the votes are counted on July 3rd, the majority of the people in the district will have shown that they feel this is the best solution to our school problem, and, that the many in the district, who have worked toward that end, will see that end accomplished."

With the letter was a statement by Reginald R. Bennett, superintendent of the fourth supervisory district which said:

"When a district is annexed to a central district, the local school is operated by the central district until the voters in the local school district vote to close the local school. The central district has no power to close the local school that has been annexed."

61 Applications Are Made for Joining Commerce Group

A marked increase in Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce memberships was reported by the membership committee today. To date 61 new membership applications have been received.

The Chamber membership committee, of which John H. Haulenbeek is chairman, believes that the increased support is stimulated by increased activities and the announced publication of a printed classified membership directory.

To Publish Directory

Recently the board of directors decided to publish the directory upon recommendation of the membership committee. The board believes it will be helpful to members and be of assistance in answering many of the thousands of requests received at the Chamber office. It is planned to have the directory ready about August 1. It will be sent to all members and given to all new residents.

All listings must be in the hands of the printer by July 10 to be included in the directory. The committee invites anyone who cares to be listed to contact any member of the committee or contact the Chamber office.

The active membership is now 481. The committee anticipates that the budget goal of 500 will be reached in the near future.

U. S. Presses Pact

Mendes-France government at Paris.

A few hours after he met with Casey and Munro, Dulles went on nationwide radio and television networks to make a statement on the Guatemalan situation, which the Voice of America also broadcast over the world.

He said this "intrusion of Soviet despotism was, of course, a direct challenge to our Monroe Doctrine—the first and most fundamental of our foreign policies." (The doctrine laid down by President Monroe in 1823 bars any extension of foreign power in the western hemisphere).

"We can be grateful," Dulles said, "that there were loyal citizens of Guatemala who, in the face of terrorism and violence and against what seemed insuperable odds, had the courage and the will to eliminate the traitorous tools of foreign despots."

Church Takes No Stand

The Catholic Church has taken no official stand on the incident. It was learned this morning from the office of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PRVF, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, that the church in all such cases offers "no comment" on similar reports during any investigation, if such an investigation is conducted. It was not stated whether any investigation has been started in this case.

The "bleeding" statue was discovered on a visit to the cemetery by Mrs. Mary Fabiano, who had recently placed the statue, an imported image of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, over the grave of her husband, Michael Fabiano, who died six months ago.

In the three centuries between 1650 and 1950 the population of the world more than quadrupled.

House Damaged On Henry Street

A fire which started from a defect in an oil burning unit damaged the cellar of a house owned by Mary Brown of Albany and occupied by Carl Mehm, Sr., at 54 Henry street this morning.

Firemen were called at 7:18 a. m., and reported that a regulator on an oil feeding unit of a pot stove was out of adjustment causing an excessive flow of oil which ignited, later reaching and bursting a glass oil reservoir.

The fire, which damaged timbers and floor boards, was confined to the cellar, but caused smoke in the house.

A call at 7:57 p. m., yesterday was for a fire in a sedan of Roosa's Taxi Service at St. James street and Broadway. It was caused by a short circuit in wiring under the hood and caused only slight damage, firemen said.

of his city's tragedy with tears in his eyes.

"I heard hundreds crying for help in the dark, but I couldn't help them," he said. "You could hear people shouting for help, but you couldn't see them. You could hear houses collapsing, then screams . . . then nothing."

Olivaries said destruction was everywhere. There were bodies in trees, some of them tied in the upper branches, bodies in piles of debris, and some caught on barbed-wire fences.

"I believe there are lots of bodies under the mud of the abode huts and in the wreckage of the houses," he said.

'Entirely Possible'

U. S. Consul Charles Talifierro in Piedras Negras doubted a death toll as high as 500 but added: "It is entirely possible."

"There's no doubt that some bodies were washed down the river and we'll never know how many, he said.

At Laredo, Associated Press reporter Dave Cheavens said there was no water, no power and a shortage of medical supplies at Nuevo Laredo. There, too, homeless refugees huddled in the hills.

Laredo, a city of nearly 60,000, was isolated nearly all day yesterday, late in the day limited traffic was allowed out of the city over a state highway covered by two feet of water. By nightfall tonight, it was expected that auto traffic might be approaching normal.

Also awaited today was the fate of the International Bridge at Laredo which connects the Mexican and United States sections of the famed Pan-American highway. It had been under as much as 22 feet of water. Three spans of a Southern Pacific Railroad bridge were reported washed away.

Nowhere was a dollars-and-cents estimate of damage available. Mayor Joe Martin in Laredo summed it up like this:

"Obviously, the damage is tremendous. So far we have concentrated on the safety of the people, and we will worry about business later."

Everything possible was being done to protect health. Insecticides were shipped from New Orleans. Typhoid shots were given to about 200 persons hourly here as well as at Laredo and other river towns. Food and drug inspectors separated spoiled and soiled foods from that still edible.

after the cease-fire. For the first time in weeks radio stations played American jazz. The rebel "Liberation Radio" called upon Guatemalans to festoon their towns with flowers to welcome "Liberator Col. Castillo Armas."

Banks in the capital were still closed as junta officials checked to see how much money their predecessors had left in the till. One former bank official was reported to have taken refuge in the Mexican embassy with more than $200,000.

More than 100 members of the former government, including Arbenz himself, were reported refugees in the Mexican embassy.

Police said Arbenz' once luxurious residence had been ransacked of everything but a few stale rolls, empty bottles and a pile of Communist literature.

Included were the life of Stalin, a book by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and treatises on the technique of secret revolt organization, police said.

Late last night Western Electric, manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone System, offered a general hourly pay boost of from four to seven cents. The company's previous offer had been four to six cents.

The union, whose contract expired May 2, has been demanding six to eight cents more an hour. Current wages average $1.86.

The union said negotiations broke down over wages and Western Electric's desire to establish new operations bases which would entail transfers of workers.

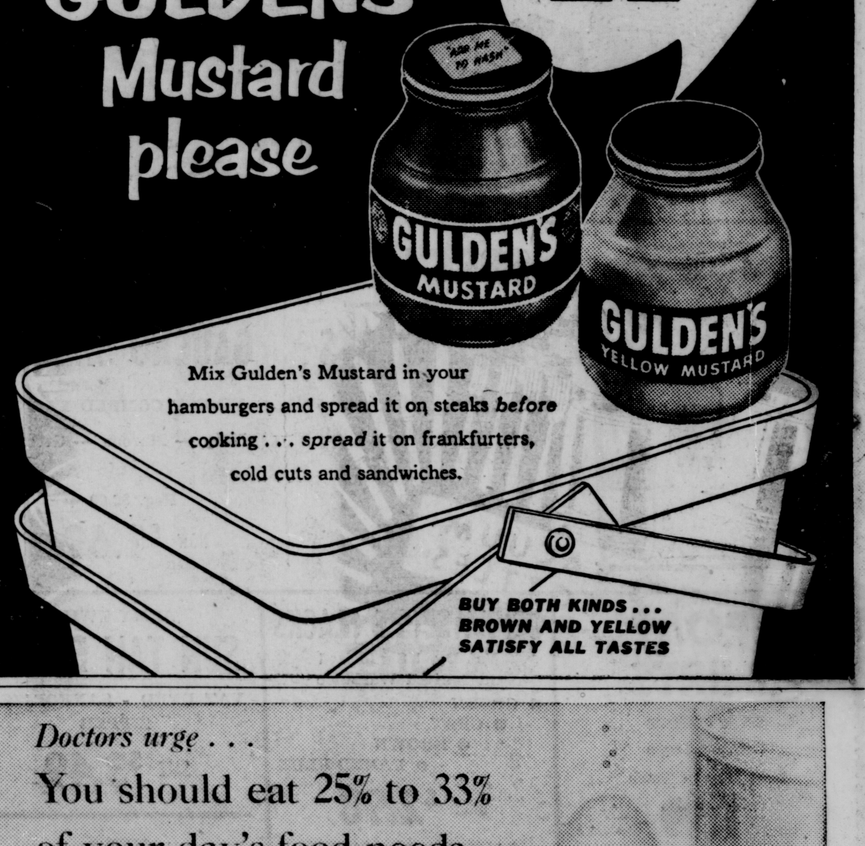

However, C. F. Raymond, WE's personnel director, said wages appeared to be the prime stumbling block.

Negotiations have been in progress since April 6.

Should the telephone operators across the country observe the installers' picket lines, long distance service would suffer greatly. Dial phones, however, could continue to operate within dial areas until the equipment broke down.

Any voter who expects to be away from the city on October 1, 2 or 8 and 9, or in the county area on the two days of registration, October 2 and 9, may register at the board of elections office on John street any day except holidays and Sundays during office hours until September 10. Voters who intend to be absent on the days of registration should take advantage of Central Registration and make early application in order to be assured of their vote.

Saugerties Woman Unhurt in Mishap

Miss Antoinette Mauro of 125 West Bridge street, Saugerties, was apparently unhurt when her automobile overturned off Route 9W about two and a half miles north of Kingston about 7:20 a. m. today, state police reported.

Troopers said Miss Mauro was traveling toward Kingston and the automobile left the highway on a slight curve and turned over on its side, causing slight damage to the mailbox of Richard Ricioppo. Troopers William Shurter and Harry Reichman investigated.

Earlier Closing Hour

Following an announcement earlier in the week that city offices would close at 4 p. m., an hour earlier, during July and August, it was noted today that county departments are to observe the same time, including Surrogate's Court, which will not open on Saturdays. Although the Veterans Service Agency on Main street will observe the 4 p. m. time, it will open Saturdays from 9 a. m. to noon.

Suit Is Filed

Albany, July 1 (AP)—The State University of New York today filed a breach of contract suit charging Syracuse University with failure to turn over more than $67,000 in endowment fund income and to account for at least $300,000 more. The suit involves endowment funds for the former Syracuse university college of Medicine, which was sold to the State University in 1950. The action is returnable in State Supreme Court here. No date was set.

1,462 Desert to West

Berlin, July 1 (AP)—West Berlin police said today that 1,462 members of the East German Communist police force, including 109 officers, deserted to the West and asked for political asylum here in the past six months.

Five Leave Work In Kingston Area

Only five employes of the Western Electric Co., in this city walked off their jobs today, as about 600 CIO telephone equipment installers in upstate New York were reported on strike as part of a nationwide move against the Western Electric Co.

A spokesman for the telephone company here said the five left their jobs at about 11 a. m., and insofar as could be determined today they were the only employes involved. Effects of the walkout here on service could not be determined today, he said.

Donald Lansing, vice president of CWA Local 1290, the Associated Press reported from Albany, could not say whether there would be picketing there. About 75 joined the strike in Albany.

Strikers included also 198 installers in the area between Plattsburgh and Newburgh and 250 in the Syracuse area. Union officials in Syracuse said no picketing was planned.

Employes of the long lines department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., also members of the CWA, went to work as usual today, it was reported.

1,000 Stop to Eat In Highland at Lion Chuck Wagon

More than 1,000 persons were fed Wednesday night at the "chuck wagon" dinner sponsored by the Highland Lions Club as a part of its "Round-Up Time" promotion, it was reported today.

For an estimated 240 persons arriving by buses from New York for the event, a highlight was a "hold up" staged by masked riders.

The promotion continues through Saturday with a hayride scheduled tonight; square dance Friday night and parade and horse show on Saturday.

Two Trucks Collide

A dump truck and a panel truck collided on Route 32 near the DeWitt Lake road intersection about 4:45 p. m. Wednesday, the sheriff's office reported. The dump truck, owned by Douglas Trowbridge and driven by Charles Wells, 29, of Stone Ridge, was entering the highway from a county road from Eddyville when it was in collision with the panel truck owned by Instant Whip, Inc., of Schenectady and driven by a salesman, Morris Golshersky, 39, of Newburgh, according to Deputy Sheriffs Charles McCullough and Delbert Sapp, who investigated. No personal injuries were reported.

Monument Is Taken

Donald Leith, of 658 Broadway, notified police yesterday that a red granite monument valued at $60 was taken from his yard over the weekend of June 20. It had a rounded top and was polished on front, he said.

Saugerties Woman Unhurt in Mishap

Miss Antoinette Mauro of 125 West Bridge street, Saugerties, was apparently unhurt when her automobile overturned off Route 9W about two and a half miles north of Kingston about 7:20 a. m. today, state police reported.

Troopers said Miss Mauro was traveling toward Kingston and the automobile left the highway on a slight curve and turned over on its side, causing slight damage to the mailbox of Richard Ricioppo. Troopers William Shurter and Harry Reichman investigated.

Earlier Closing Hour

Following an announcement earlier in the week that city offices would close at 4 p. m., an hour earlier, during July and August, it was noted today that county departments are to observe the same time, including Surrogate's Court, which will not open on Saturdays. Although the Veterans Service Agency on Main street will observe the 4 p. m. time, it will open Saturdays from 9 a. m. to noon.

Suit Is Filed

Albany, July 1 (AP)—The State University of New York today filed a breach of contract suit charging Syracuse University with failure to turn over more than $67,000 in endowment fund income and to account for at least $300,000 more. The suit involves endowment funds for the former Syracuse university college of Medicine, which was sold to the State University in 1950. The action is returnable in State Supreme Court here. No date was set.

1,462 Desert to West

Berlin, July 1 (AP)—West Berlin police said today that 1,462 members of the East German Communist police force, including 109 officers, deserted to the West and asked for political asylum here in the past six months.

A man who lived in the west was very fond of fox hunting. He owned a pack of hounds, and the nights he spent following the hounds in the chase were not a few. He wrote to his brother who lived in the east, urging him to make a visit and enjoy a fox hunt with him. The brother finally made the visit. A hunt was soon planned. The westerner got all his hounds together, the neighbors came in with their hounds, and altogether there was a great company of men and dogs. The party was soon off on horseback for the hunt. The hounds struck a warm trail, and each began to bark and howl in true hound fashion.

After a few minutes, when the sound from the dogs was particularly loud and prolonged, the westerner turned to his brother and said, "Just listen to that heavenly music!"

The somewhat practical easterner, after listening a minute, replied, "I can't hear anything for the trifling dogs!"

'Red Faces' Ahead, Attorney Declares

Amesbury, Mass., July 1 (AP)—A prediction that "there will be a lot of Red faces when her story is told" was made last night by the attorney for Mrs. Lorraine Clark, 27, who is charged with murder in the Palm Sunday slaying of her husband.

Attorney C. Francis Leary refused to elaborate on his "red faces" remark but said "we intend to fight this case all the way."

Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg said several days ago that Mrs. Clark admitted in a signed statement that she killed her husband, Melvin Clark, Jr., 29, the father of her three children.

Cregg has refused to divulge the full contends of the statement. He said revelation of the "lurid details" would not be fair to the Clark children.

Cregg did say, Mrs. Clark told him the slaying followed a terrific verbal row over "other men."

Whole Truth Untold

Mrs. Clark's attorney said the whole truth surrounding the Clark slaying has not yet been told.

Cregg said investigators have established that Clark was slain in his Lake Attitash home and that his body, weighted with three 15-pound boat anchors, was dumped into the Merrimack river during the early morning of Palm Sunday, April 11.

Search by a diver for clues temporarily halted last night after several days' efforts failed to turn up anything.

Cregg said the diver principally was trying to find the weapon used to kill Clark, a .22 calibre pistol from which two shots were fired into the victim's head.

The diver said he probably will resume his search next week.

Police said they found a sheet, pillow case and a hairbrush all apparently blood-stained, yesterday on the banks of a creek flowing into the Merrimack river.

The items were turned over to chemists for tests.

Pilot Lands His Crippled Plane

Garden City, July 1 (AP)—A World War 2 combat pilot brought a crippled plane to safety last night by skimming a crowded housing development and crash landing just short of Mitchel Air Force Base.

Terrified spectators said the plane missed the house "by inches."

Lt. Lucien Pickett, 29, of Coral Gables, Fla., a reserve air force officer, guided his C-46 military transport with one of the two motors out. The crew of three escaped injury.

The plane was on a routine training flight.

Pickett said the left engine gave out at about 600 feet altitude. As he put the plane into a tight turn to return to the field, the right engine also began failing, he said.

"We were losing speed and altitude fast," Pickett said. "It was pretty close. We were so low that we were clipping power lines just beyond the development."

The landing craft dragged the power lines and hundreds of homes lost power just at dinner time.

The plane landed about 200 feet from the field.

Traffic Deaths Fewer

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths decreased in May, the fifth consecutive month which has shown a reduction from the corresponding month in 1953. The May death toll was 2,960, the National Safety Council reported. A reduction of 3 per cent over May, 1953. In the first five months this year, 13,470 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. A decrease of 5 per cent over the 14,150 reported in the corresponding period last year.

Brought Many Things

Early white settlers in America brought lice, fleas, bedbugs, clothes moths, mites, bots, grubs, and flies says the National Geographic Society.

UNCLE EF

Aunt Molly Harmsworth never could understand why they call them public parks and then put up signs all over the place warning folks to keep off the grass.

Terrified spectators said the plane missed the house "by inches."

Lt. Lucien Pickett, 29, of Coral Gables, Fla., a reserve air force officer, guided his C-46 military transport with one of the two motors out. The crew of three escaped injury.

The plane was on a routine training flight.

Pickett said the left engine gave out at about 600 feet altitude. As he put the plane into a tight turn to return to the field, the right engine also began failing, he said.

"We were losing speed and altitude fast," Pickett said. "It was pretty close. We were so low that we were clipping power lines just beyond the development."

The landing craft dragged the power lines and hundreds of homes lost power just at dinner time.

The plane landed about 200 feet from the field.

Traffic Deaths Fewer

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths decreased in May, the fifth consecutive month which has shown a reduction from the corresponding month in 1953. The May death toll was 2,960, the National Safety Council reported. A reduction of 3 per cent over May, 1953. In the first five months this year, 13,470 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. A decrease of 5 per cent over the 14,150 reported in the corresponding period last year.

Brought Many Things

Early white settlers in America brought lice, fleas, bedbugs, clothes moths, mites, bots, grubs, and flies says the National Geographic Society.

Aunt Molly Harmsworth never could understand why they call them public parks and then put up signs all over the place warning folks to keep off the grass.

Denies Basis for Complaint

Albany, July 1 (AP)—The deputy superintendent of public works says there is no basis to complaints that work on the cross-state thruway is hampering the repair of other highways. E. Burton Hughes, commenting yesterday on a letter from Roy C. Higby, president of the Adirondack Assn., said the thruway had no bearing on the amount of work on other highways." The department, he added, was "spending every dollar the Legislature gives up on highways." Higby's letter warned the state administration that Republican success in future elections would be jeopardized if the thruway took precedence over needed repairs to other highways.

Adult Art Class To Be Formed

A number of requests for an outdoor art class have been received and registrations for such a class will be taken Wednesday, July 7, from 1 to 2 p. m., in Room V-110 of the new Vocational Building.

The instruction will be aimed at the individual student so that there will be a place for beginners as well as more advanced students.

A choice of black-white, oil color, water color, or other mediums will be left to the student.

The class will meet on Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 4 p. m., at interesting locations in the local area.

Storied Industry

The American wool industry was begun about 1643 by wool combers and carders from Yorkshire, England, who settled in Rowley, Mass.

Will Build Skyscraper

New York, July 1 (AP)—A 27-story air-conditioned office building will be erected in downtown Manhattan, the first new skyscraper in nearly 25 years in the financial district. The contract for the construction of the building, which will adjoin the New York Stock Exchange, was signed yesterday. The exchange has leased the site to General Realty & Utilities Corp. for 25 years.

No Newsmen, No Trip

New York, July 1 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt announced today she had canceled a one-month trip to Russia because Soviet officials had failed to grant a visa for a trained newsman or Russian-speaking writer to accompany her.

Sego Symbol

The Mormons adopted the sego lily as a symbol because its edible roots served as a kind of "manna" to their early settlers in Utah, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

State Bureau Says Business Very Good

Albany, July 1 (AP)—The State Commerce Department says business in New York state was "very good" during the first six months of the year and predicts that 1954 will be one of the best ever.

The department observed in a mid-year report, however, that its business index was running a little below last year's level and that unemployment was up from 1953.

Despite the statistical dip, some state economists forecast that while 1954 "will probably register few new peaks, it should add up to one of the best years on record" in business. They said the trend had edged gradually upward each month since January.

Here's how the department reviewed the state's economy for the first six months of the year:

Except for the 1953 peak year, over-all activity surpassed that of any comparable period on record. Total business volume was three per cent under the 1953 level for the first four months.

In the January-May period, unemployment claims averaged $327,000, compared with the 211,000 average for the first five months of 1953.

Total non-agricultural employment during the January-April period was 5,824,500—a drop of one per cent from the 5,885,900 employed in the same period last year.

Contract Is Signed

New York, July 1 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera and the AFL Theatrical Protective Union yesterday signed a new contract which guarantees the stage hands pay increases averaging three per cent. Included in the contract was a two per cent retroactive pay increase covering the 1952-53 opera season. The clause was center of a long dispute and for a while threatened to break off negotiations. Current wages were not disclosed.

Bank Application Filed

Washington, July 1 (AP) — The office of the comptroller of the currency said today an application had been filed for a new national bank in White Plains, N. Y. In confirming the filing, G. W. Garwood, a deputy comptroller, said Ralph H. Levet of White Plains had corresponded with the office in connection with the matter.

Archaeologist Hear Report of Seneca Village at Meeting

The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the New York State Archaeological Association held a covered dish supper June 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Olsen, Thornecrest Farmhouse in Millbrook.

A paper, entitled The Adams Site, illustrated with color slides was presented by Charles Wray, archaeologist of West Rush.

The Adams Site, located near Livonia, was a fortified Seneca village from 1550 to 1575, first investigated in 1850 by E. G. Squier for the Smithsonian Institution. The location of the village was lost for almost 100 years until 1948 when it was found again and excavated by Mr. Wray. The palisaded village covered more than 10 acres and included two Seneca cemeteries which yielded 330 skeletons. Many were found in multiple burials up to six in number, indicating an epidemic.

Mr. Wray's paper reported that more than 52 per cent of the graves contained grave goods. Of particular interest are the brass bracelets and rings, so numerous that these Senecas are thought to have been the Northern Indians referred to by the Virginia Indians when they told Capt. John Smith of tribes in the north who were so rich that they covered themselves with "gold."

Mr. Wray, an amateur archaeologist, is a recognized authority on the location and sequence of Seneca sites from 1550 to 1687.

Local residents interested in membership in the Mid-Hudson Chapter may contact Dr. Dudley Hargrave, 15 Main street.

Why We Say--

Hunters today might erect a canopy over their beds to protect themselves from insects and this is exactly how the word started. The canopy began with boatmen in the Nile region of Egypt who erected coverings over their beds to protect themselves from "kanops" or gnats in the area.

Ulster Park, June 30 — There will be no service in the Reformed Church during July while the Rev. Harry E. Christaina, pastor, is on vacation. Services will resume Aug. 1. Anyone wishing to contact the pastor during his absence may write him at Grass Point State Park, Alexander Bay.

The next meeting of Ulster Grange, 969, will be held Wednesday, July 7, at 8 p. m. This will be the only meeting for the month. The annual summer fair and cafeteria supper of the Grange will be held July 31, afternoon and evening, on the grounds.

Two Prepare Essays

Suffolk, Va., July 1 (AP)—The literary ability of two Suffolk women may determine whether either faces an additional penalty on reckless driving charges as a result of an automobile accident. Cars driven by Phillis Jean Culpepper, 21, and Mrs. Thelma Lee Baggett, 43, collided last week with only minor damages, but both women were charged with reckless driving. After hearing the case yesterday, Police Court Justice E. Roland Custis reset the case for July 10 to pass judgment—after he reads two-page essays on "Who's Got the Right of Way" he sentenced the two women to write.

Will Take No Action

Albany, July 1 (AP) — Gov. Dewey's office has indicated that Dewey will take no action on an appeal by Herbert L. Brickman asking the governor to help him regain his post as New York city director of veterans' affairs. A spokesman said yesterday the governor's office had received a telegram from Brickman requesting Dewey to intervene in his discharge by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. The governor's aide said Dewey had no power to appoint or remove persons in the post. He said the authority was vested exclusively in the mayor.

Two Prepare Essays

Suffolk, Va., July 1 (AP)—The literary ability of two Suffolk women may determine whether either faces an additional penalty on reckless driving charges as a result of an automobile accident. Cars driven by Phillis Jean Culpepper, 21, and Mrs. Thelma Lee Baggett, 43, collided last week with only minor damages, but both women were charged with reckless driving. After hearing the case yesterday, Police Court Justice E. Roland Custis reset the case for July 10 to pass judgment—after he reads two-page essays on "Who's Got the Right of Way" he sentenced the two women to write.

Will Take No Action

Albany, July 1 (AP) — Gov. Dewey's office has indicated that Dewey will take no action on an appeal by Herbert L. Brickman asking the governor to help him regain his post as New York city director of veterans' affairs. A spokesman said yesterday the governor's office had received a telegram from Brickman requesting Dewey to intervene in his discharge by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. The governor's aide said Dewey had no power to appoint or remove persons in the post. He said the authority was vested exclusively in the mayor.

Tom Carlino Belts Pair of Homers as Dairymen Win Fourth, 5-2

Shortstop Also Hits Long Triple Against Merchants

So far as the City League records show, Wednesday night's game at the Athletic Field wasn't carded as Tom Carlino Day but the Jones Dairy shortstop certainly had a day for himself regardless.

Tommy wound up the game (in which the front-running Dairymen won by 5 to 2 for their fourth straight league conquest) with a batch of laurels including two long homers, a triple, five runs batted in and a sizzling catch of a drive headed for extra bases.

All of this was done at the expense of the Olive Merchants, who dropped their fifth straight of the young season. The Merchants had all their work cut out for them in facing Red Hinkley but they never figured Carlino would give them so many extra headaches.

After Hinkley retired the Merchants in the first frame, Carlino made his presence felt in no uncertain manner.

Bob Gorsline and Rod Whitaker slapped back-to-back singles off Harry Personeus, the Olive twirler. On an attempted bunt by Nippy Jones, Gorsline was forced at third, bringing to the plate Tommy Carlino. Carlino promptly belted his first homer into deep center to give the Dairymen a 3-0 bulge.

After a scoreless second stanza, the Dairymen came right back, with Carlino again stealing the show. Jones singled and didn't waste much time on the paths as Carlino exploded another long drive—this one going for a triple. Carlino tried to stretch the drive into his second homer of the night but was rubbed out at the plate on a relay from Bob Shultis to Doug Glass to Bill Olen at the plate.

Catch Saves Trouble

Carlino pulled off a scintillating catch of a long belt by Shultis in the fifth after Jake Croswell singled and stole second. Carlino, off with the crack of the bat, made a back-hand stab of Shultis' drive. After Personeus bounced out, Croswell went to third and scored on Glass' one-bagger. Junie Davis kept the rally alive with a single but Glass was picked off second on a perfect heave from Bob Gorsline to Whitaker to end the uprising.

The Merchants picked up their second and final marker off Hinkley in the sixth when Bill Jackson singled, went to second as Olen grounded out and galloped home on Ronnie Mauro's errant throw. Bill Wilkens worked Hinkley for a pass and Bill Crosby singled to put men at first and second. Both runners moved up on Croswell's infield out but Hinkley retired Shultis on a pop fly to end the threat.

The Dairymen came back with their sixth and final run in the bottom half of the sixth frame as Carlino blasted one of Personeus' offerings into right center for his second homer of the night and his third extra base blow.

Hinkley retired five on strikeouts and issued two walks. Personeus fanned four and walked two batters.

Outside of Carlino's three hits, Gorsline, Whitaker, Jones and Hinkley picked up the other Dairymen's hits. Glass, Davis, Jackson, Crosby, Croswell and Shultis singled for the Merchants.

Panthers vs. Doblers

The Doblers, who took over second place Tuesday night, will have a chance to cement their hold tonight in a game against the Panthers, weather permitting.

The standings:

	Won	Lost
Jones Dairy	4	0
Doblers	3	1
Nadler Motors	2	2
N. Y. Panthers	1	2
Olive Merchants	0	5

Score by innings:

Philip Scott Rules Westbury Favorite

Westbury, July 1 (AP) — Philip Scott, who was an ordinary trotter in 1952 but was converted to a pacer last year, rules the slight favorite in Roosevelt Raceway's $25,000 National Pacing Derby tonight.

The derby is the first major eastern event for pacers this season, and features the appearance of the sensational Adois Boy, who amazed the harness racing world as a 2-year-old.

Nine of the nation's fastest sidewheelers are in the invitational mile and one quarter and grand circuit veterans wouldn't be surprised if a world record went by the boards. Good time set the world standard of 2:31 3/5 when he won the 1952 derby.

Frank Safford, who trains and drives Philip Scott, converted him to a pacer last year when he was a 5-year-old. Then in 21 starts Philip Scott won five races, had four seconds and two thirds. He made old timers take notice when he finished second behind Chuck Volo in Roosevelt's $50,000 Nassau pace.

Tough Competition

Indianapolis, July 1 (AP)—Dale Morey and singer Don Cherry, newly selected members of the Americans' cup team, opposed a couple of tough competitors from Chicago in the 36-hole championship match of the Western Golf Association's first international four-ball tourney. Art Hoff and Jack Culp of Chicago hadn't matched the Morey-Cherry best ball medal scoring but had impressed the gallery with their clutch shooting. They were 28 strokes under the Highland course par for 134 holes, compared with the Morey-Cherry performance of 36 under for 125 holes.

Oakland, Calif., July 1 (AP)—Bobby Jones, Oakland boxer who told police he received threatening phone calls after reporting an alleged bribe offer, yesterday was granted permission to carry a pistol. Jones recently told New York police he was offered $15,000 to throw a fight there with Joey Giardello. He lost a close decision. Clarence Henry, former heavyweight contender was indicted in New York on charges of trying to bribe Jones.

With Hobart Armstrong fashioning his third home run of the season, Sprague Electric upended the Moose Lodge Wednesday night by 7 to 4 at the 156th FA Little League field and moved into a two-way tie for first place.

It was strictly a comeback effort by the S-E squad to register the decisive victory. After leading 3 to 1 at the end of three innings, Sprague Electric saw the lead go down the drain as the Moose Lodge team shoved over three runs to capture a 4 to 3 lead going into the bottom half of the fifth. But then came the storm.

Walk Opens Rally

Tom Ashdown opened the uprising with a walk off Mike Carpino. After Carpino retired Garry Barnes and John Dunn, Hobart Armstrong picked a real auspicious time for his third round-tripper of the year with a belt over the left field fence, giving the S-E team a 5-4 edge. Ron Pratt continued the rally, however, by working Carpino for a free ticket. After Ron Secreto slapped a single, both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Ken Sickler gave his mates some insurance runs as he stroked a single driving in both Pratt and Secreto.

Gives Two Hits

It was a tremendous game for young Armstrong who helped his own cause with that fifth inning homer. He held the Moose Lodge to a pair of singles by Ed Corcoran and Bob Robinson. Carpino, hurling for the Moose team, permitted six blows. Armstrong walked five and fanned three while his opponent struck out four and issued four free tickets.

Ernie Madison got the call to give the KPA nine its first victory in the Fraternal Youth League Wednesday night and the young hurler responded in terrific style.

He not only pitched the KPA to a steady 6 to 1 victory over the win-less Kiwanis club but aided in his own with a two-run homer to assure himself of the victory on his own prowess.

Madison excelled throughout his six-inning stint as he piled up 15 strikeouts and displayed perfect control by not walking a man.

After the KPA hurler was touched for a run in the bottom half of the first inning, he was invincible from then on out. His mates gave him a run in the first but broke up the 1-1 deadlock in the third to make it a 2-1 ball game and that was all Madison needed. In the fourth inning uprising, however, Madison made sure of his victory with his two-run blast. The Police nine added two more to finish the scoring.

Young Madison gave up singles to Vic Locke, Frank Sammons, Barney Millens and Jay Van Loan. Besides Madison's homer, the other Police hits were picked up by George Norton, Seymour Semiloff, Gene Neagle and Vince Bradley, all singles.

Erros Hurt Losers

Poor support in back of Ward Yerry, the Kiwanis hurler, didn't help his cause.

The KPA nine will have the opportunity of moving into a three-way tie for first place tonight when it tangles with the Vols. Actually, the Police team is in first place now but remains off the pace by a half-game margin.

Score by innings:

Police	101 400—6

Louise Suggs Sees Chance for Amateurs

Peabody, Mass., July 1 (AP)—The Women's National Open golf championship got under way at Salem Country Club today with a prediction by Louise Suggs that the amateurs had as good a chance to win the event as the professionals.

Miss Suggs, leading money winner among the play-for-pay girls so far this year, based her statement on the length of the 6,393 yard, three lined course on which the 72-hole three-day medal tourney is being held. Par is 36-36—72.

"There are a lot of long distance hitters among the amateurs this year like Joyce Ziske, Mickey Wright, and Pat Lesser and that's what this course requires," says Louise.

Ernie Madison got the call to give the KPA nine its first victory in the Fraternal Youth League Wednesday night and the young hurler responded in terrific style.

He not only pitched the KPA to a steady 6 to 1 victory over the win-less Kiwanis club but aided in his own with a two-run homer to assure himself of the victory on his own prowess.

Madison excelled throughout his six-inning stint as he piled up 15 strikeouts and displayed perfect control by not walking a man.

After the KPA hurler was touched for a run in the bottom half of the first inning, he was invincible from then on out. His mates gave him a run in the first but broke up the 1-1 deadlock in the third to make it a 2-1 ball game and that was all Madison needed. In the fourth inning uprising, however, Madison made sure of his victory with his two-run blast. The Police nine added two more to finish the scoring.

Young Madison gave up singles to Vic Locke, Frank Sammons, Barney Millens and Jay Van Loan. Besides Madison's homer, the other Police hits were picked up by George Norton, Seymour Semilof, Gene Neagle and Vince Bradley, all singles.

Erros Hurt Losers

Poor support in back of Ward Yerry, the Kiwanis hurler, didn't help his cause.

The KPA nine will have the opportunity of moving into a three-way tie for first place tonight when it tangles with the Vols. Actually, the Police team is in first place now but remains off the pace by a half-game margin.

Score by innings:

Police ..... 101 400—6
Kiwanis ..... 100 000—1

Louise Suggs Sees Chance for Amateurs

Peabody, Mass., July 1 (AP)—The Women's National Open golf championship got under way at Salem Country Club today with a prediction by Louise Suggs that the amateurs had as good a chance to win the event as the professionals.

Miss Suggs, leading money winner among the play-for-pay girls so far this year, based her statement on the length of the 6,393 yard, three lined course on which the 72-hole three-day medal tourney is being held. Par is 36-36—72.

"There are a lot of long distance hitters among the amateurs this year like Joyce Ziske, Mickey Wright, and Pat Lesser and that's what this course requires," says Louise.

'Little Mo' Top Favorite

Wimbledon, England, July 1 (AP) Four American women were keeping the Stars and Stripes boldly flying at Wimbledon today as they clashed in the semi-finals of the all-England women's championship—with all the betting money placed solidly on defending champion Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly.

It will be 19-year-old Ken Rosewall of Australia against Jaroslav Drabny Czech-born, now living in Egypt, in the men's singles final on Friday.

Rosewall, second-seeded, knocked out top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, and Drobny eliminated Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 yesterday.

Little Mo from San Diego, Calif., plays Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N. J. in one semifinal. Two former Wimbledon champions, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meet in the other. The finals will be played Saturday.

Seeks Third Straight

Miss Connolly, looking for her third straight championship, is ranked first with Miss Hart seeded second. They fought it out for the championship last year, and many experts are counting on the same two this year.

Miss Hart, who won the title three years ago, meets Miss Brough, who won the championship three years in succession—1948, 1949 and 1950. Both girls have stroked their way to easy victories without losing more than three games in a set.

Mrs. Pratt, seeded eighth, scored the only upset in the women's division by eliminating Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, in three sets in the quarter-finals.

Giants' June Mark Best In Majors' Modern Play

(By The Associated Press)

The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants greeted July in first place today, but they probably were a little sorry to see June fade from the calendar.

In the last 30 days every one of the other 14 major league teams lost ground in the pennant races.

Cleveland was in first place a month ago but added two games to its margin over Chicago and half a game over the third place New York Yankees.

The National League race fell apart in June, leaving only the Giants and Brooklyn as solid contenders with Philadelphia an outside possibility.

Moved Up From Third

The Giants turned in the best record ever compiled for the month of June in the modern history of the majors. They won 24 out of 28 games and moved from third place, a game and a half out of the lead, into a 3-game advantage over second place Brooklyn.

The Dodgers had an excellent 21-8 mark for the month but dropped from a single game behind to three. The Phils fell 6½ more games off the pace; Cincinnati 9½, St. Louis 11, Pittsburgh 11½, Milwaukee 12 in a nose-dive from first to fourth place, and Chicago 17.

The ground dost by American League teams also was considerable although not as much as in the senior circuit. In addition to the half game loss by the Yankees and the 2 games by the White Sox, the Philadelphia Athletics lost 5½. Washington and Baltimore 8 each and Boston and Detroit 10 each.

GIANTS' JUNE 2

On the final day of the month the Giants whipped Brooklyn 5-2, Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 8-0, St. Louis crushed Cincinnati 11-3 and Chicago broke an 11-game losing streak with a 9-7 decision over Milwaukee in the National League.

Cleveland shaded Baltimore 2-0, Chicago bowed to Detroit 4-3, Boston tripped the Yankees 6-1 and Philadelphia edged Washington 8-7 in the American League.

Antonelli Wins 11th

Johnny Antonelli won his 11th game and became the second left-hander to beat the Dodgers this season as the Giants made it two straight over their bitter rivals. New York broke up a 2-1 thriller with three in the eighth on four walks and a single by Whitey Lockman.

Robin Roberts applied his whitewash brush to the Pirates for the third straight time. It was his 11th victory. He had won 12 by this date a year ago.

Nothing comes easy to the Cubs these days. After losing 11 straight they built up a 9-2 lead over Milwaukee in eight innings only to have the Braves rally for five in the last of the ninth. The Cubs ended the month with 21 losses in 27 starts.

Cards' Rookies Shine

Rookies sparkled for the Cardinals. Joe Cunningham, playing his first major league game, drove in five runs at Cincinnati with a home run and a single. Brooks Lawrence, making his second start, won his second game. He's lost once in relief. Rip Repulski homered twice for St. Louis.

Mike Garcia handcuffed Baltimore on four singles and Larry Doby gave him the only run he really needed with a 400-foot homer, longest hit so far in Baltimore's Municipal Stadium. Dick Kryhoski of the Orioles went hitless for the first time in 20 games.

A ninth inning homer by Bill Tuttle sent the White Sox down to defeat. The Sox had rallied for two runs to tie the score in the eighth on a walk, a double by Chico Carrasquel and a single by George Kell.

Ties Dubious Record

The Yankees ran into Williard Nixon again in Boston and the righthander whipped them for the third time this season. Tom Morgan of the Yankees hit three Boston batters in the third inning, tying a major league record. Mickey Mantle's 14th homer was the only New York run.

Bill Wilson, who has found the home run range since being traded to Philadelphia by the White Sox, hit a pair against Washington, the second one coming in the last of the ninth for the victory margin. Wilson has hit seven homers, five in June.

Draw Marks Mims-Dykes Capital Go

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Middleweights Holly Mims and Bobby Dykes, both seeking a shot at the crown, see-sawed their way last night to an unusual 10-round draw that did neither of their careers much good.

Mims, Washington, D. C.'s second ranked contender for the world title held by Bobo Olson, looked strong in the middle rounds when he jarred Dykes with overhand right hand punches.

Dykes, Miami, Fla., veteran, piled up a big lead in the early rounds by flicking lefts and rights at Mims, then making the Washington pummler come after him instead of mixing it with him anywhere near the ropes.

So it wound up with one judge giving the nod to Dykes, 97-93, one to Mims, 97-93, and the referee seeing it 95-95—a draw under District of Columbia boxing rules.

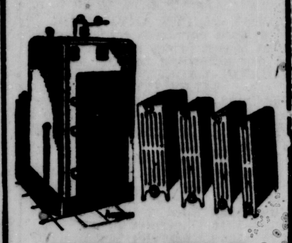

There were no knockdowns in the boxer-vs.-slugger match and a somewhat unenthusiastic reaction from the 2,601 fans who paid to see the nationally televised bout. Mims weighed 155, Dykes 159½.

'Little Mo' Top Favorite

Wimbledon, England, July 1 (AP) Four American women were keeping the Stars and Stripes boldly flying at Wimbledon today as they clashed in the semi-finals of the all-England women's championship—with all the betting money placed solidly on defending champion Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly.

It will be 19-year-old Ken Rosewall of Australia against Jaroslav Drabny Czech-born, now living in Egypt, in the men's singles final on Friday.

Rosewall, second-seeded, knocked out top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, and Drobny eliminated Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 yesterday.

Little Mo from San Diego, Calif., plays Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N. J. in one semi-final. Two former Wimbledon champions, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meet in the other. The finals will be played Saturday.

Seeks Third Straight

Miss Connolly, looking for her third straight championship, is ranked first with Miss Hart seeded second. They fought it out for the championship last year, and many experts are counting on the same two this year.

Miss Hart, who won the title three years ago, meets Miss Brough, who won the championship three years in succession—1948, 1949 and 1950. Both girls have stroked their way to easy victories without losing more than three games in a set.

Mrs. Pratt, seeded eighth, scored the only upset in the women's division by eliminating Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, in three sets in the quarter-finals.

Giants' June Mark Best In Majors' Modern Play

(By The Associated Press)

The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants greeted July in first place today, but they probably were a little sorry to see June fade from the calendar.

In the last 30 days every one of the other 14 major league teams lost ground in the pennant races.

Cleveland was in first place a month ago but added two games to its margin over Chicago and half a game over the third place New York Yankees.

The National League race fell apart in June, leaving only the Giants and Brooklyn as solid contenders with Philadelphia an outside possibility.

Moved Up From Third

The Giants turned in the best record ever compiled for the month of June in the modern history of the majors. They won 24 out of 28 games and moved from third place, a game and a half out of the lead, into a 3-game advantage over second place Brooklyn.

The Dodgers had an excellent 21-8 mark for the month but dropped from a single game behind to three. The Phils fell 6½ more games off the pace; Cincinnati 9½, St. Louis 11, Pittsburgh 11½, Milwaukee 12 in a nose-dive from first to fourth place, and Chicago 17.

The ground lost by American League teams also was considerable although not as much as in the senior circuit. In addition to the half game loss by the Yankees and the 2 games by the White Sox, the Philadelphia Athletics lost 5½, Washington and Baltimore 8 each and Boston and Detroit 10 each.

GIANTS' JUNE 2

On the final day of the month the Giants whipped Brooklyn 5-2, Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 8-0, St. Louis crushed Cincinnati 11-3 and Chicago broke an 11-game losing streak with a 9-7 decision over Milwaukee in the National League.

Cleveland shaded Baltimore 2-0, Chicago bowed to Detroit 4-3, Boston trimped the Yankees 6-1 and Philadelphia edged Washington 8-7 in the American League.

Antonelli Wins 11th

Johnny Antonelli won his 11th game and became the second left-hander to beat the Dodgers this season as the Giants made it two straight over their bitter rivals. New York broke up a 2-1 thriller with three in the eighth on four walks and a single by Whitey Lockman.

Robin Roberts applied his whitewash brush to the Pirates for the third straight time. It was his 11th victory. He had won 12 by last year.

Another comes easy to the Cubs this days. After losing 11 straight they built up a 9-2 lead over Milwaukee in eight innings only to have the Braves rally for five in the last of the ninth. The Cubs ended the month with 21 losses in 28 starts.

Cards' Rookies Shine

Rookies sparkled for the Cardinals. Joe Cunningham, playing his first major league game, drove in two runs at Cincinnati with a home run and a single. Brooks Lawrence, making his second start won his second game. He's just one in relief. Rip Repulski homered twice for St. Louis.

Mike Garcia handcuffed Baltimore on four singles and Larry Doby gave him the only run he really needed with a 400 foot homer, longest hit so far in Baltimore's Municipal Stadium. Dick Kryhoski of the Orioles went hitless for the first time in 20 games.

A ninth inning homer by Bill Tuttle sent the White Sox down to defeat. The Sox had rallied for two runs to tie the score in the eighth on a walk, a double by Chico Carrasquel and a single by George Kell.

Ties Dubious Record

The Yankees ran into Williard Nixon again in Boston and the righthander whipped them for the third time this season. Tom Morgan of the Yankees hit three Boston batters in the third inning, tying a major league record. Mickey Mantle's 14th homer was the only New York run.

Bill Wilson, who has found the home run range since being traded to Philadelphia by the White Sox, hit a pair against Washington, the second one coming in the last of the ninth for the victory margin. Wilson has hit seven homers, five in June.

Draw Marks Mims-Dykes Capital Go

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Middleweights Holly Mims and Bobby Dykes, both seeking a shot at the crown, see-sawed their way last night to an unusual 10-round draw that did neither of their careers much good.

Mims, Washington, D. C.'s second ranked contender for the world title held by Bobo Olson, looked strong in the middle rounds when he jarred Dykes with overhand right hand punches.

Dykes, Miami, Fla., veteran, piled up a big lead in the early rounds by flicking lefts and rights at Mims, then making the Washington plunder come after him instead of mixing it with him anywhere near the ropes.

So it wound up with one judge giving the nod to Dykes, 97-94, one to Mims, 97-95, and the referee seeing it, 95-95—a draw under District of Columbia boxing rules.

There were no knockdowns in the boxer-vs.-slugger match and a somewhat unenthusiastic reaction from the 2,601 fans who paid to see the nationally televised bout.

Mims weighed 155, Dykes 159½.

NOTICE OF CHANGES IN ELECTRIC AND GAS RATE SCHEDULES
Amendments to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued June 11, 1953 to become effective July 1, 1954 add Service Classification No. 5, Transmission Line Power Rate, applicable to service delivered at 69,000 volts directly from the company's main transmission lines in which the rate includes a monthly demand charge of $1.53 gross, $1.50 net per Kw.; energy charges of .88c gross, .865c net per Kwh. for the first 1,000,000 Kwh. per month and any additional monthly usage which is not in excess of 360 hours use of the demand and .675c gross, .665c net per Kwh. for any remaining usage; and a fuel adjustment of .01c per Kwh. for each .25c by which the average cost of coal at the company's Danskammer Point Steam Generating Station exceeds $8.90 per net ton. The demand is 85% of the maximum monthly Kva. demand during designated on-peak hours plus one-fourth of any additional monthly Kva. demand during other hours but not less than 250 Kvs. during four months of each year designated by the customer and 2,000 Kvs. during any months not so designated.
These amendments also modify Service Classification No. 3, Large Power and Light Rate, by eliminating Special Provision 3.2 which has provided a reduction of 5% in the charges under this classification for service delivered at 66,000 volts directly from a main transmission line.
An amendment to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued June 3, 1954 to become effective July 3, 1954 adds Section 15 to the general regulations in that schedule providing (1) that additional facilities will be constructed when the company cannot be assured that the business to be served will be permanent or unusual expenditures are necessary to supply the service only when applicant or customer makes an adequate contribution toward the cost of such facilities, or guarantees continued payment of bills for electric service, or makes other satisfactory arrangements sufficient to warrant the company undertaking the investment and expense involved; (2) that a customer shall give reasonable advance notice of any proposed increase in the amount of his service requirements; and (3) that a customer may be required to contribute to the cost of adding or enlarging facilities needed for his sole use if the proposed increase in load exceeds 150 kilowatts and the company is not satisfactorily assured that the taking of increased service will be of sufficient duration to render its supply compensatory to the company.
An amendment to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Gas issued June 3, 1954 to become effective July 3, 1954 adds Section 12 to the general regulations in that schedule providing that additional facilities will be constructed when the company cannot be assured that the business to be served will be permanent or unusual expenditures are necessary to supply the service only when applicant or customer makes an adequate contribution toward the cost of such facilities, or guarantees continued payment of bills for gas service, or makes other satisfactory arrangements sufficient to warrant the company undertaking the investment and expense involved.

NOTICE OF CHANGES IN ELECTRIC AND GAS RATE SCHEDULES

Amendments to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued June 11, 1953 to become effective July 1, 1954 add Service Classification No. 5, Transmission Line Power Rate, applicable to service delivered at 69,000 volts directly from the company's main transmission lines in which the rate includes a monthly demand charge of $1.53 gross, $1.50 net per Kw.; energy charges of .88c gross, .865c net per Kwh. for the first 1,000,000 Kwh. per month and any additional monthly usage which is not in excess of 360 hours use of the demand and .675c gross, .665c net per Kwh. for any remaining usage; and a fuel adjustment of .01c per Kwh. for each .25c by which the average cost of coal at the company's Danskammer Point Steam Generating Station exceeds $8.90 per net ton. The demand is 85% of the maximum monthly Kva. demand during designated on-peak hours plus one-fourth of any additional monthly Kva. demand during other hours but not less than 250 Kvs. during four months of each year designated by the customer and 2,000 Kvs. during any months not so designated.

These amendments also modify Service Classification No. 3, Large Power and Light Rate, by eliminating Special Provision 3.2 which has provided a reduction of 5% in the charges under this classification for service delivered at 66,000 volts directly from a main transmission line.

An amendment to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued June 3, 1954 to become effective July 3, 1954 adds Section 15 to the general regulations in that schedule providing (1) that additional facilities will be constructed when the company cannot be assured that the business to be served will be permanent or unusual expenditures are necessary to supply the service only when applicant or customer makes an adequate contribution toward the cost of such facilities, or guarantees continued payment of bills for electric service, or makes other satisfactory arrangements sufficient to warrant the company undertaking the investment and expense involved; (2) that a customer shall give reasonable advance notice of any proposed increase in the amount of his service requirements; and (3) that a customer may be required to contribute to the cost of adding or enlarging facilities needed for his sole use if the proposed increase in load exceeds 150 kilowatts and the company is not satisfactorily assured that the taking of increased service will be of sufficient duration to render its supply compensatory to the company.

An amendment to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Gas issued June 3, 1954 to become effective July 3, 1954 adds Section 12 to the general regulations in that schedule providing that additional facilities will be constructed when the company cannot be assured that the business to be served will be permanent or unusual expenditures are necessary to supply the service only when applicant or customer makes an adequate contribution toward the cost of such facilities, or guarantees continued payment of bills for gas service, or makes other satisfactory arrangements sufficient to warrant the company undertaking the investment and expense involved.

One of the new laws on comic books is aimed at preventing "tie-in sales" of indecent literature. It makes it a misdemeanor for a distributor to demand that a retailer purchase a lewd publication as a condition to buying other merchandise.

The second measure empowers the chief legal officer of a city, town or village to seek an injunction in State Supreme Court against a person who sells literature deemed indecent. The authority formerly was restricted to the chief executive officer of a locality.

A third new law on comic books, which became effective in March, increases from $50 to $150 the maximum fine for persons found guilty of selling obscene literature.

The measure on the use of names in charity drives stems from a joint legislative committee's investigation last fall of charity racketeering. The law makes it a misdemeanor to use the name of any person in connection with a fund-raising campaign without the written consent of that person.

Although it has long been a federal offense to operate an unlicensed still, until today there had been no state statute against moonshining. The new law is intended to empower all law enforcement authorities in the state to aid federal agents in stamping out the practice.

Other measures effective today:

Require the state motor vehicle commissioner to ask persons registering their automobiles whether they carry liability insurance. The information will be used for statistical purposes.

Make it disorderly conduct for an unauthorized person — other than the parent or guardian of a pupil—to loiter about school buildings or grounds.

Make it a felony to shoot a firearm at an airplane, whether in the air or on the ground.

River Delta . . .

pathies of these Vietnamese rice-growers have been with the troops of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh and not with the French or the budding Vietnamese national army.

For weeks since the Vietminh smashed the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu on May 6 thousands of Vietnamese in Hanoi and elsewhere in northern Indochina have been almost chanting "Long live Ho Chi Minh." To these people the fall of Dien Bien Phu meant the French could not last much longer.

Demonstrated Rarely

Vietnamese in the delta rarely have demonstrated any patriotic streak. They have been interested only in having enough rice to eat.

They have never liked the French, who have fought to protect the fledgling nation of Viet Nam from the sweep of communism. They have not feared Ho and communism because they have never experienced it.

Thus, if the French have to quit Hanoi and make a fighting withdrawal to a last beachhead at Haiphong, they may find their way barred not only by six to eight Vietminh divisions but by the 100,000 Vietminh soldiers hidden inside the heart of the delta and aided by tens of thousands of civilians who want the French crushed.

Since 1950, when the French were driven all the way from the Chinese border, they had managed to hold onto their wedge-shaped delta perimeter covering 8,000 square miles of delta lands rich in rice, minerals and manpower.

Virtually every French commander has declared: "As the delta goes, so goes Indochina and all of southeast Asia." Unless the Indochina conference in Geneva stops the shooting, the odds appear heavily in favor of the delta going into the hands of the Vietminh.

In Paris the French News Agency announced that the Vietminh had already occupied Phat Diem, the big Catholic center 75 miles southeast of Hanoi. This was accomplished at 10 a. m. yesterday.

The British have warned 150 British commonwealth citizens to be ready to leave Hanoi on a moment's notice.

Russia Might . . .

needed to get nuclear power on a satisfactory, going basis.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R.-N. Y.), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy, said yesterday the Russian claim underlined a new need for amending the Atomic Energy Act to facilitate power development. He said if this Congress adjourns without acting on the proposed amendment to the law "it will mean we are deliberately exposing ourselves to an inferior position in the world for the production of industrial power."

Ferguson Says

bipartisan foreign policy because the Republicans still want the country to think the Democrats are traitors."

Ferguson, who heads the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said in a separate interview the Republicans have as much right to criticize what he called mistakes of past Democratic administration as the opposition has to differ on present foreign policies.

"The Democratic party is acting like a crybaby on these matters," the Michigan senator said. "Some of the Democrats are saying that if we criticize their past mistakes, they are going to pick up their marbles and go home and not cooperate on foreign policy."

Nixon recently contended that Acheson's policies were responsible for the loss of China and helped bring on the Korean war and the troubles in Indochina.

Asked about the speech at his news conference, Eisenhower said Nixon was entitled to his own opinions. At the same time, Eisenhower said he believes we must seek agreements among ourselves with respect to foreign policy that are not confined to any party.

Awe was fatally injured when the tractor-trailer he was operating went out of control on the steep grade and curve just east of Kerhonkson village and crashed into the Brown Drug Store on Main street in the village. Awe was traveling west at the time down the steep grade.

In addition to the death action there is also a second action brought by Joseph Velthaus to recover $3,600 for the damage to his truck which he alleges was caused by the negligent maintenance of the highway by the county, improper grades and badly banked curves over the mile stretch leading down the mountain to the village where the road "dead-ends" at the main street of the village.

The county is presently making a study of the situation, scene of several accidents, with the intent of relieving the condition by a realignment of the highway.

Awe was fatally injured when the tractor-trailer he was operating went out of control on the steep grade and curve just east of Kerhonkson village and crashed into the Brown Drug Store on Main street in the village. Awe was traveling west at the time down the steep grade.

In addition to the death action there is also a second action brought by Joseph Velthaus to recover $3,600 for the damage to his truck which he alleges was caused by the negligent maintenance of the highway by the county, improper grades and badly banked curves over the mile stretch leading down the mountain to the village where the road "dead-ends" at the main street of the village.

The county is presently making a study of the situation, scene of several accidents, with the intent of relieving the condition by a realignment of the highway.
